'NO MORE BROKEN HANDS NOW, MOTHER'

3-Year-Old Amputee Gets Artificial Arms; Has 2 Offers As Team Mascot

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—A belated birthday gift has given three-year-old Tommy Herbert of Cleveland a new grip on life.

Tommy, who lost his hands when a switch engine struck him 14 months ago, is fast learning to manipulate a pair of artificial hands given him Saturday in a delayed celebration of his birthday, which was a week ago Wednesday.

"No more broken hands now, mother," Tommy said happily when Mrs. Roland Herbert showed him his new birthday present.

Joseph Spivak of Youngstown Artificial Limb Co. and his baseball team, which is composed of handicapped persons, brought the flesh-colored, nylon plastic hands to Tommy's home.

The specially constructed hands, which were made in London, England, were given to Tommy by the Society for Crippled Children in Cleveland. The hands have fingers and a movable thumb attached to leather cuffs which are strapped to Tommy's arms.

Tommy, for the first time since the accident, except for a brief practice session in Youngstown, is able to comb his hair, hold a book and write on a piece of paper.

But baseball fan Tommy likes his other present too—a five-inch gold-plated trophy from the baseball team of the Cleveland chapter of Possibilities Unlimited, an association composed entirely of amputees, to their mascot.

"Tommy loves baseball", Mrs. Herbert said. "I have to pitch to him long after the other boys have gone home. He bats and runs the bases when he

Deputies, Patrol Make Arrests

NEW LEXINGTON, Nov. 18—State highway patrolmen and sheriffs' deputies from several Southeastern Ohio counties captured four kidnapers today who escaped from the Perry County jail while Sheriff Clair Butts went hunting small game.

Morgan County sheriff's deputies picked up Robert Romine of Rendville late last night near McConnellsville.

The patrol reported Romine and William Goodfellow of New Lexington were riding in the car stolen from Mr. and Mrs. John Sidwell of Crooksville at the time they were approached by the deputies.

The Sidwells were kidnaped and abandoned in an open field five miles from their home Monday night.

Goodfellow fled into a nearby woods as the deputies drew near. He was arrested this morning by the Athens County sheriff's department as he walked along railroad tracks toward the home of his uncle, James Goodfellow.

The Athens County deputies acted on a report from a farmer near Frost who said someone was hanging around his house trying to steal his car.

MEANWHILE, five patrol units and virtually the entire Morgan County sheriff's department surrounded a house near Cutler.

Officers said the two other escapees, who had been drinking hard cider in the house, hid as the authorities burst in on them.

Clyde Kelley of Vincent dove under a bed and Hugh Dobbins of Perry County jumped behind a door.

Patrolmen said neither man

40 Cents Per $1,000 Lopped Off

1949 Rate Is Set At 18.40 By Panel

Residents of Circleville corporation, who are battling increasing prices in every field of merchandise, will enjoy a 40-cent tax cut per $1,000 property evaluation in 1949.

Thus, a person owning real estate valued on the county tax duplicate at $5,000, will save $2—about three pounds of butter.

The tax rate for next year has been fixed at 18.40 mills by the Pickaway County budget commission. The new tax is four-tenths of a mill less than the 1948 rate.

In return, the city received 5.05 mills to collect for operational expenses. This is .05 of a mill higher than this year and means about $50,630.51 to cover expenses next year.

Expiration of the Corwin Street School bond issue which was voted Nov. 5, 1935, resulted in the cut of .4 of a mill on the corporation's tax rate, Auditor Fred L. Tipton disclosed.

HE SAID the 13-year-old bond issue is scheduled to be paid off this year. Sufficient money was in the bond fund to allow its liquidation without maintaining the 1948 millage, Tipton stated.

The 1949 tax rate was set up by the budget commission as follows:

County tax levy—2.4 mills; township—.25 of a mill; schools—2.9 inside the 10-mill limitation and 7.8 mills outside the 10-mill limitation; and corporation tax levy—4.45 mills inside the limitation and .6 mills outside the 10-mill limitation. Total—18.40 mills.

Under classification for city schools, 7.9 mills made up of 2.9 mills inside and 5 mills outside the 10-mill limitation will amount to $84,474.53 for operational expenses, the auditor reported.

The remaining 2.8 mills outside the limitation will allow

AFL-CIO Tie Urged

UMW Also Named In Merger Bid

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 — The American Federation of Labor turned its eyes toward Portland, Ore., today for CIO reaction to a new AFL invitation to merge all labor unions into one national organization.

In a surprise move, the 700 delegates to the AFL's 67th annual convention meeting here extended a new invitation for unity to the CIO and by inference, to John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers.

They unanimously adopted a resolution instructing the executive committee to "pursue with new vigor its efforts to bring about unity between all bona fide unions in our nation."

The CIO's executive committee is now meeting in Portland, where the CIO national convention begins Monday.

The invitation bombshelled into a jampacked AFL day which saw the convention also vote unanimously to continue its political arm, Labor's League for Political Education, "on a permanent basis and on a national and state and local level."

But the merger proposal climaxed all developments.

THE RESOLUTION was directed specifically to the CIO, but the AFL executive committee already had approved the principle of re-affiliation with the UMW.

The resolution stated:

Corporation Tax Asked

GOP Levy-Cutter Now Wants Hike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, Republican apostle of reduced taxes, today urged a billion dollar increase in corporation levies.

The chairman of the tax-writing House ways and means committee asserted that "a number of the larger corporations are making too much money."

Part of their profits, he added, "should be siphoned off in increased taxes."

Knutson warned, however, that any restoration of the wartime excess profits tax, which has been rumored in Democratic circles, would be "disastrous and result in business going into a tailspin."

Knutson suggested that the 38 percent maximum tax on corporation profits be increased to 42 percent. He estimated that would bring in an additional $1.1 billion annually. The present tax is levied on net profits in excess of $50,000.

ON THE OTHER hand, he stated, "an excess profits tax cannot be justified in peacetime and would result in business going into a tailspin if based on the 1936 to 1939 base period."

This was the period used as a criterion during the war in levying excess profits taxes on corporations.

The Minnesotan stated that he had planned to push another cut in individual income taxes in 1950 if the Republicans had taken over the national administration.

Chinese Official Pleads For Immediate U.S. Aid

PARIS, Nov. 18—China's chief delegate to the United Nations made a fervent appeal today for immediate American help to save China from Communist control.

The plea for aid was made by Dr. Tingfu S. Tsiang who said the Chinese situation may be referred to the Security Council.

Dr. Tsiang revealed that consideration is being given to the possibility of bringing China's plight before the council on grounds that Russian aid to the Chinese Communist troops creates a threat to peace in all the Far East.

Dr. Tsiang warned that a Communist-dominated China will mean that all the vast resources of that country will be placed at the disposal of Russia.

He said this would assist the "Soviet scheme for world domination."

THE CHINESE delegate said that the most striking evidence of Soviet aid to Chinese Communists was the official Japanese foreign office estimate that 50,000 Japanese war prisoners were turned over by Russia to to fight with the Communists.

Predicting that China will become a complete satellite of the Soviet Union if the Communists gain control, Dr. Tsiang said:

"The United States should do two things. First, give immediate increased aid in the way of light arms, food, aviation and gasoline.

"Secondly, make an immediate declaration of America's purpose to aid China."

Dr. Tsiang described as "naivete of the most childish type" any idea that a Communist victory in China would make little or no difference in China's for-

WAR IN ITS 9TH DAY

Chiang Claims Commies Losing Battle Of Suchow

NANKING, Nov. 18—The Chinese government claimed today the Communists had suffered serious losses in the prolonged battle of Suchow on the main northern approaches to Nanking.

Government sources asserted that 93,000 Red troops have been killed or wounded in the million-man engagement, as Nationalist reinforcements moved up to the flaming front.

The great struggle, on the outcome of which may hinge the fate of China's heartland, roared through its ninth day, with the issue apparently still in the balance.

The Nationalists yesterday claimed they repulsed Red columns on the east wing of the Suchow front. The Communists were said to have been hurled into northward retreat by the government's second army.

THE REDS, however, admittedly destroyed the Nationalist seventh army before the second arrived in the sector and counter-attacked.

Eight thousand Communist officers and men were said to have been taken prisoner east of Suchow, which lies 175 miles north of Nanking and the Yangtze river. Other thousands of Reds, it was claimed, were killed or disabled.

The Communist radio broadcast a statement that Red columns had swept around Suchow's southern flank, capturing Suhsien and cutting a wide swath across the rail and highway routes to Nanking.

Nationalist reserve troops, meantime, deployed along a new defense line along the Huai river, 100 miles north of the Nanking-Shanghai stretch of the Lower Yangtze.

It was believed the government forces now engaged in the Suchow struggle would fall back to the Huai line for a new stand in the event they are finally forced into a general southward withdrawal.

Truman Names Dulles As Sub For Marshall

KEY WEST, Nov. 18—President Truman today emphasized his bipartisan foreign policy by naming John Foster Dulles as acting chairman of the United States delegation to the United Nations.

Dulles will take the place of Secretary of State Marshall while the latter is in Washington conferring with the President.

The President also named Ben Cohen, former Roosevelt braintruster, to replace Warren Austin, chief U. S. delegate on a temporary basis. Austin is ill.

The presidential announcement closely preceded a scheduled luncheon meeting with Defense Secretary Forrestal on both the European and Chinese situation.

Forrestal has just returned from an inspection tour of Europe. He is making an expected one-day flying trip to Florida to make a personal report to his chief.

As the President awaited Forrestal's arrival, it was announced Mr. Truman and his party will leave Key West at 11 a. m. Sunday to fly back to Washington. He is due there at 3 p. m. (EST).

Dulles Warns Europe American Aid May Cease

PARIS, Nov. 18—John Foster Dulles, acting chairman of the United States delegation to the United Nations, warned Europe today that American aid may be withdrawn if the Western Powers cannot achieve unity.

Speaking before the American Club of Paris, the foreign policy spokesman recalled that thrice within 30 years the United States has given men and resources to save the continent.

These, he said, were the two world wars and the economic aid being given under the Marshall Plan.

Dulles disclaimed any imperialistic intention on the part of the United States. He noted that after each war American forces had departed immediately "although some now wish our troops had not gone so quickly and so fully."

The United States, he added, wants only to have a Europe with so much political strength that no power will be able to use

Herbert Calls Special Parley

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Gov. Thomas Herbert today called a meeting of Ohio house and senate leaders to discuss the possibility of a special sesion of the lame-duck Republican legislature.

The session with the legislative leaders will consider "primarily the new TB hospital at Ohio State university."

However, he indicated there was a possibility that other subjects would be considered. Number one on this list was the question of whether an additional appropriation would be nnecessary to complete the Ohio bonus program.

Russia, Yank 'Stupidity' Hit By Ex-Socialist

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—American Federation of Labor delegates cheered to the echo today a bitter denunciation of Russia and of America's "ignorant" foreign policy.

"There will be no peace in the world so long as the Stalin regime survives in Moscow."

The former Socialist leader contended that "ignorance in Washington got us into this mess, and what is more it is

British Airlift Plane Crashes

BERLIN, Nov. 18—British officials announced today that a British airlift plane crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany last night, killing two crewmen. Two other British airmen were injured seriously.

Russian authorities were asked to allow a salvage crew inspect the wreckage of the Dakota transport and to permit a British ambulance to pick up the injured crewmen.

Soviet officials said the plane crashed six miles east of Luebeck, just inside the Soviet zone, while en route to Berlin.

Marines Ordered Into China; They Have Been There Before

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — The United States Marines were called upon again today to play their role of America's first line troops in troubled China.

Twelve hundred and fifty U. S. Leathernecks have been ordered by Defense Secretary Forrestal from Guam to China to help protect the lives and property of Americans in the areas threatened by the Chinese Communist army.

They are being sent to Tsingtao to reinforce the 3,600 Devil Dogs already stationed in that port.

The Marines, as was pointed out by Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift in February, 1947, have been doing this for 128 years.

The retired Marine Corps commandant and hero of the Guadalcanal campaign in World War II said:

"During their long service in the Orient the U. S. Marines have helped to maintain order in the midst of two revolutions, the Sino-Japanese war and untold minor rebellions and riots."

GEN. VANDERGRIFT stated that the First Marines, attached to the Navy's East India squadron based at Hongkonk, were sent to China in 1820, soon after trade relations with the U. S. were opened.

Marines during the following 100 years made more than 30 separate landings to protect U. S. lives and property.

A Marine legation guard was stationed at the old imperial

Torture Pair Said Spotted Heading West

BRYANT, Nov. 18—A man and woman who tortured and robbed a Greenville couple were reported seen at least four times near Bryant today.

Indiana police immediately joined the search for the couple who held Robert Cooper, 40, and his wife, Kathleen, 36, for two hours Monday night and cut three rings valued at more than $2,000 from Mrs. Cooper's fingers.

Cooper was beaten and four of his teeth were pulled because the robbers were dissatisfied with the amount of loot.

The Ohio state patrol said the most reliable tip came today from a truck driver who told the Indiana state police he had seen the robber pair hitch-hiking toward Indiana.

500 Drowned As Boat Sinks

CALCUTTA, Nov. 18—Some 500 persons were feared drowned today when a loaded steamer capsized in the Ganges river near Patna, Bihar Province, India.

The steamer was carrying both passengers and cattle from the Sonepur Fair.

Lancaster Man 7th Dead Nimrod

LANCASTER, Nov. 18 — William C. England, 32, a deaf-mute, today became the seventh hunting death in the state when he was killed by his own shotgun six miles north of here.

England was found fatally wounded beside a fence by a woman who heard the shot.

Sheriff Harley Highley said a strand of wire apparently struck the trigger of England's gun as he was climbing a fence.

24 Countians To Take Draft Tests Next Week

Chester C. Peters, 22-year-old Ashville non-veteran, has been selected to lead the contingent of 24 Pickaway County draftees to Columbus on Nov. 24, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Betty Miner, clerk of the local draft board, said there are no veterans in the November quota and added that most of the men previously had been rejected for military service.

The examinations are conducted at Fort Hayes by military doctors. Those men selected to fill the November quota have been classified 1-A by the board, but final decision rests with the Army.

Six men were sent from Pickaway County last month but not one met physical requirements, Miss Miner reported. Among the group to leave Wednesday will be one man of October's quota who is returning for x-rays.

British Urging New Palestine Study Commission

PARIS, Nov. 18—Britain urged formation today of a new Palestine commission to enact the Bernodotte plan which gives the Negev to the Arabs.

A British resolution presented to the United Nations Political Committee called for a three-power conciliation commission to take over the work of Acting Mediator Ralph J. Bunche and the UN truce commission.

British Minister of state Hector McNeil told the committee that direct talks between Arabs and Jews are inadvisable inasmuch as Israel now holds the upperhand and could impose its will on the Arab states.

Although approving the territorial provisions of the Bernadotte plan—which would give Galilee to the Jews—McNeil made no mention of recognition of Israel, as envisioned in the late mediator's report.

The British resolution calls for the new commission to carry out

Korean Urges U.S. Stand Fast

SEOUL, Nov. 18 — A South Korean government spokesman advocated today that the United States keep its occupation troops in his country lest the Communists seize control of all Korea.

Kim Dong Sung, public information officer, warned that an early American withdrawal from South Korea would mean "nothing less than letting the Communist army take a free hand in our country."

Kim contended that America's desire for what he termed "international prestige and self security" virtually rules out any unconditional U. S. military evacuation of South Korea.

Dulles disclaimed any imperialistic intention on the part of the United States. He noted that after each war American forces had departed immediately "although some now wish our troops had not gone so quickly and so fully."

The United States, he added, wants only to have a Europe with so much political strength that no power will be able to use

British Urging New Palestine Study Commission

PARIS, Nov. 18—Britain urged formation today of a new Palestine commission to enact the Bernodotte plan which gives the Negev to the Arabs.

A British resolution presented to the United Nations Political Committee called for a three-power conciliation commission to take over the work of Acting Mediator Ralph J. Bunche and the UN truce commission.

British Minister of state Hector McNeil told the committee that direct talks between Arabs and Jews are inadvisable inasmuch as Israel now holds the upperhand and could impose its will on the Arab states.

Although approving the territorial provisions of the Bernadotte plan—which would give Galilee to the Jews—McNeil made no mention of recognition of Israel, as envisioned in the late mediator's report.

The British resolution calls for the new commission to carry out

Marines Ordered Into China; They Have Been There Before

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — The United States Marines were called upon again today to play their role of America's first line troops in troubled China.

Twelve hundred and fifty U. S. Leathernecks have been ordered by Defense Secretary Forrestal from Guam to China to help protect the lives and property of Americans in the areas threatened by the Chinese Communist army.

They are being sent to Tsingtao to reinforce the 3,600 Devil Dogs already stationed in that port.

The Marines, as was pointed out by Gen. Alexander A. Vandergrift in February, 1947, have been doing this for 128 years.

The retired Marine Corps commandant and hero of the Guadalcanal campaign in World War II said:

"During their long service in the Orient the U. S. Marines have helped to maintain order in the midst of two revolutions, the Sino-Japanese war and untold minor rebellions and riots."

GEN. VANDERGRIFT stated that the First Marines, attached to the Navy's East India squadron based at Hongkonk, were sent to China in 1820, soon after trade relations with the U. S. were opened.

Marines during the following 100 years made more than 30 separate landings to protect U. S. lives and property.

A Marine legation guard was stationed at the old imperial

Torture Pair Said Spotted Heading West

BRYANT, Nov. 18—A man and woman who tortured and robbed a Greenville couple were reported seen at least four times near Bryant today.

Indiana police immediately joined the search for the couple who held Robert Cooper, 40, and his wife, Kathleen, 36, for two hours Monday night and cut three rings valued at more than $2,000 from Mrs. Cooper's fingers.

Cooper was beaten and four of his teeth were pulled because the robbers were dissatisfied with the amount of loot.

The Ohio state patrol said the most reliable tip came today from a truck driver who told the Indiana state police he had seen the robber pair hitch-hiking toward Indiana.

500 Drowned As Boat Sinks

CALCUTTA, Nov. 18—Some 500 persons were feared drowned today when a loaded steamer capsized in the Ganges river near Patna, Bihar Province, India.

The steamer was carrying both passengers and cattle from the Sonepur Fair.

Herbert Calls Special Parley

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Gov. Thomas Herbert today called a meeting of Ohio house and senate leaders to discuss the possibility of a special sesion of the lame-duck Republican legislature.

The session with the legislative leaders will consider "primarily the new TB hospital at Ohio State university."

However, he indicated there was a possibility that other subjects would be considered. Number one on this list was the question of whether an additional appropriation would be necessary to complete the Ohio bonus program.

24 Countians To Take Draft Tests Next Week

Chester C. Peters, 22-year-old Ashville non-veteran, has been selected to lead the contingent of 24 Pickaway County draftees to Columbus on Nov. 24, for pre-induction physical examinations.

Betty Miner, clerk of the local draft board, said there are no veterans in the November quota and added that most of the men previously had been rejected for military service.

The examinations are conducted at Fort Hayes by military doctors. Those men selected to fill the November quota have been classified 1-A by the board, but final decision rests with the Army.

Six men were sent from Pickaway County last month but not one met physical requirements, Miss Miner reported. Among the group to leave Wednesday will be one man of October's quota who is returning for x-rays.

Lancaster Man 7th Dead Nimrod

LANCASTER, Nov. 18 — William C. England, 32, a deaf-mute, today became the seventh hunting death in the state when he was killed by his own shotgun six miles north of here.

England was found fatally wounded beside a fence by a woman who heard the shot.

Sheriff Harley Highley said a strand of wire apparently struck the trigger of England's gun as he was climbing a fence.

Korean Urges U.S. Stand Fast

SEOUL, Nov. 18 — A South Korean government spokesman advocated today that the United States keep its occupation troops in his country lest the Communists seize control of all Korea.

Kim Dong Sung, public information officer, warned that an early American withdrawal from South Korea would mean "nothing less than letting the Communist army take a free hand in our country."

Kim contended that America's desire for what he termed "international prestige and self security" virtually rules out any unconditional U. S. military evacuation of South Korea.

British Airlift Plane Crashes

BERLIN, Nov. 18—British officials announced today that a British airlift plane crashed in the Soviet zone of Germany last night, killing two crewmen. Two other British airmen were injured seriously.

Russian authorities were asked to allow a salvage crew inspect the wreckage of the Dakota transport and to permit a British ambulance to pick up the injured crewmen.

Soviet officials said the plane crashed six miles east of Luebeck, just inside the Soviet zone, while en route to Berlin.

eign policy because Chinese Communists are not of the Soviet brand but merely are radical agrarian reformers who would want to rely on American economic aid. Of this he said:

"From the history of the Chinese Communist Party and public declarations of Communist leaders you find there is the closest connection between Chinese Communists and their comrades in other countries.

"To be sure, during the (last) war Chinese Communists changed their tactics for a time. So did American Communists. So did Stalin.

"Since the end of the war the world has noticed that Stalin has changed his tune. So have the Chinese Communists."

Asked what effect Communist control of China would be likely to have on the U. S., Dr. Tsiang said:

"Chinese Communists would proceed to give aid to the Communists of French Indo-China, Malaya, Burma, India and everywhere else in the Far East.

"Communism is like a flood. You have built a strong dam against the flow westward in the form of material and moral aid from the Persian Gulf to Scandinavia.

"Now that the flood is dammed up on this side and is overflowing in the other direction you must redress the balance."

Grain Farmers May Soon Feel Foreign Pinch

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — Sen. Aiken, (R) Vt. said today that it may not be long before the grain farmer, and particularly the wheat farmer, feels the pinch of diminishing foreign markets.

The senator told the Illinois Agricultural Association's annual meeting in Chicago, that "when that time comes it is a broadened market among the producers of animal products in the United States that is likely to save the day for him."

Aiken said that the high point of the 80th Congress in the field of agricultural legislation was the enactment of the Agricultural Act of 1948, which he sponsored.

He said the act "is based on two principal objectives which our farm organizations and the U. S. Department of Agriculture have sought for years"—the revision of the parity formula and the establishment of flexible floors under farm prices.

Aiken declared:

"I cannot conceive of a reversal of policy on the part of the U. S. Department of Agriculture of the President, and as a Republican, I cannot conceive of the members of my party in Congress yielding to either inflationary high support levels or to the efforts of those who would destroy any firm price support program."

PARIS, Nov. 18—Plans to attempt settlement of the Berlin crisis through a new approach to the currency question gained momentum today.

The United States delegation meanwhile summoned finance experts from Washington and American headquarters in Germany to convass all possibilities.

capital, Peking (now Peiping), in 1898.

They were withdrawn the next year, but in 1900, when the Boxer Rebellion threatened all foreigners in China, Marines took a prominent part in the international relief expedition which captured Tientsin and Peking.

Gen. Vandegrift said that in 1905 the Peking Marine legation guard was reestablished, and remained on duty until the start of World War II.

Marines also were stationed in Shanghai from 1925 until Pearl Harbor.

The Shanghai force, the Fourth Marine Regiment, withdrew to the Philippines, where it took part in the defense of Bataan and Corregidor.

The 500 Marines in the old northern capital, now known as Peiping, were captured by the Japanese.

Marines returned to China in 1945 to enforce the surrender and disarmament of the Japanese.

Some Marine units have remained on duty in North China ever since as the tension between the Communists and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government mounted and burst into open war.

WHILE RECOGNIZING the fear which grips Europe today, Dulles argued that the population of free, Western Europe, totalling 260 millions, is greater than that of either Russia or the United States.

In addition to its own natural resources, he argued, it also is close to vast natural resources in Africa.

In view of these factors, Dulles added that the European nations "ought to constitute an unassailable citadel of freedom and well being. Only disunity makes them weak."

Savings Bond Purchases Show Increase Here

Sale of E, F and G Savings Bonds in Pickaway County for the month of October hit the $25,287 mark, William D. Radcliff, chairman of the savings bond committee for this county announced.

Judge Radcliff said the committee currently is engaged in extending the "new customer" effort of the Savings Bond Division which began Nov. 11 and extends through Dec. 11.

The program is directed toward an increase in purchases of bonds through payroll savings plan in local industry and increase individual purchases by self employed in local banks.

Judge Radcliff especially urged farmers to buy Savings Bonds. He said:

"It is good business for farmers to buy Savings Bonds for a number of reasons. Farmers need financial reserves under any circumstances, but if prices should fall as they always have after wars, then reserves will be especially important. It is possible that a dollar saved now will buy considerably more in a few years.

"Farmers should also remember that while their prices go up fast in periods in inflation, in periods of depression they also go down much faster than prices on the things farmers buy resulting in a squeeze on the farmer. By buying Savings Bonds instead of bidding up the price of farm supplies and equipment or investing in land at inflated prices, farmers can help prevent this situation from becoming too serious."

There was evidence the four escapees had been seen near the house, about 11 miles west of Maritta, but the neighbors were afraid to report to the law officers for fear the men might harm them or their property.

The kidnapers, all of whom were serving sentences for minor offenses, escaped from the Perry County jail here Monday when Sheriff Butts left Dobbins, a trusty, free to roam the jail.

While Butts went hunting, Dobbins found the keys to the cells and released the other prisoners and the quartet fled, stealing several shotguns and some ammunition and they left.

Pupils Promise To End Strike

AKRON, Nov. 18 — Striking high school students at neighboring Twinsburg were ready to go back to their classes today, but not ready to forget their grievances against School Superintendent Glen L. Powell.

The students have promised to return Friday, but in the meantime they are busy circulating petitions asking the ouster of Powell.

Chinese Official Pleads For Immediate U.S. Aid

eign policy because Chinese Communists are not of the Soviet brand but merely are radical agrarian reformers who would want to rely on American economic aid. Of this he said:

"From the history of the Chinese Communist Party and public declarations of Communist leaders you find there is the closest connection between Chinese Communists and their comrades in other countries.

"To be sure, during the (last) war Chinese Communists changed their tactics for a time. So did American Communists. So did Stalin.

"Since the end of the war the world has noticed that Stalin has changed his tune. So have the Chinese Communists."

Asked what effect Communist control of China would be likely to have on the U. S., Dr. Tsiang said:

"Chinese Communists would proceed to give aid to the Communists of French Indo-China, Malaya, Burma, India and everywhere else in the Far East.

"Communism is like a flood. You have built a strong dam against the flow westward in the form of material and moral aid from the Persian Gulf to Scandinavia.

"Now that the flood is dammed up on this side and is overflowing in the other direction you must redress the balance."

Grain Farmers May Soon Feel Foreign Pinch

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — Sen. Aiken, (R) Vt. said today that it may not be long before the grain farmer, and particularly the wheat farmer, feels the pinch of diminishing foreign markets.

The senator told the Illinois Agricultural Association's annual meeting in Chicago, that "when that time comes it is a broadened market among the producers of animal products in the United States that is likely to save the day for him."

Aiken said that the high point of the 80th Congress in the field of agricultural legislation was the enactment of the Agricultural Act of 1948, which he sponsored.

He said the act "is based on two principal objectives which our farm organizations and the U. S. Department of Agriculture have sought for years"—the revision of the parity formula and the establishment of flexible floors under farm prices.

Aiken declared:

"I cannot conceive of a reversal of policy on the part of the U. S. Department of Agriculture of the President, and as a Republican, I cannot conceive of the members of my party in Congress yielding to either inflationary high support levels or to the efforts of those who would destroy any firm price support program."

New Approach Being Tried

PARIS, Nov. 18—Plans to attempt settlement of the Berlin crisis through a new approach to the currency question gained momentum today.

United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie began coordinating the efforts with Argentine Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia, author of the idea.

capital, Peking (now Peiping), in 1898.

They were withdrawn the next year, but in 1900, when the Boxer Rebellion threatened all foreigners in China, Marines took a prominent part in the international relief expedition which captured Tientsin and Peking.

Gen. Vandegrift said that in 1905 the Peking Marine legation guard was reestablished, and remained on duty until the start of World War II.

Marines also were stationed in Shanghai from 1925 until Pearl Harbor.

The Shanghai force, the Fourth Marine Regiment, withdrew to the Philippines, where it took part in the defense of Bataan and Corregidor.

The 500 Marines in the old northern capital, now known as Peiping, were captured by the Japanese.

Marines returned to China in 1945 to enforce the surrender and disarmament of the Japanese.

Some Marine units have remained on duty in North China ever since as the tension between the Communists and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government mounted and burst into open war.

Dulles Warns Aid May Cease

Europe "for purposes alien to the free development of Europe herself."

WHILE RECOGNIZING the fear which grips Europe today, Dulles argued that the population of free, Western Europe, totalling 260 millions, is greater than that of either Russia or the United States.

In addition to its own natural resources, he argued, it also is close to vast natural resources in Africa.

In view of these factors, Dulles added that the European nations "ought to constitute an unassailable citadel of freedom and well being. Only disunity makes them weak."

"We suggest it is not enough for us to open the door and hope the prodigal CIO will return, but that we should now reach out and grasp them by the hand and urge them to come back into the American Federation of Labor.

"The recent political victory was won only by the cooperative efforts of all labor. The greatest possible impetus toward the organization of workers would come from extending such unity.

"All of the resources and energy now consumed in civil war could then be turned toward advancing the economic and social welfare of labor, of our nation, and the world."

Several days a week Tommy goes to the Society for Crippled Children's nursery school where therapists coach him to operate his new hands.

At the school, Tommy models with clay, puts wooden puzzles together, strings beads and plays the drum in the school band.

He probably takes after his two brothers, Ronnie, 8, and Donald, 6. Ronnie plays the drum and Donald the accordian, Mrs. Herbert said.

"Tommy can eat without help now," Mrs. Herbert continued. "Mrs. Lillian Martin, a new friend of Tommy's, gave him a bracelet with a hole in the top through which he puts his fork or spoon and clamps them down. Then he eats by himself."

"We treat Tommy just as we do any other of our other 450 amputees and he has made great progress in adjusting to his handicap," said Miss Dorothy Morgan, editor of Possibilities Unlimited's quarterly magazine.

Possibilities Unlimited made Tommy a member soon after his accident 14 months ago. They donated $50 for hospital expenses and began a fund raising campaign which amounted to approximately $9,000.

But right now Tommy has an important decision of his own to make. The Spivak boys in Youngstown have asked Tommy to be their mascot next season. He likes his mascot job with Possibilities Unlimited's team, too, though.

Savings Bond Purchases Show Increase Here

Sale of E, F and G Savings Bonds in Pickaway County for the month of October hit the $25,287 mark, William D. Radcliff, chairman of the savings bond committee for this county announced.

Judge Radcliff said the committee currently is engaged in extending the "new customer" effort of the Savings Bond Division which began Nov. 11 and extends through Dec. 11.

The program is directed toward an increase in purchases of bonds through payroll savings plan in local industry and increase individual purchases by self employed in local banks.

Judge Radcliff especially urged farmers to buy Savings Bonds. He said:

"It is good business for farmers to buy Savings Bonds for a number of reasons. Farmers need financial reserves under any circumstances, but if prices should fall as they always have after wars, then reserves will be especially important. It is possible that a dollar saved now will buy considerably more in a few years.

"Farmers should also remember that while their prices go up fast in periods in inflation, in periods of depression they also go down much faster than prices on the things farmers buy resulting in a squeeze on the farmer. By buying Savings Bonds instead of bidding up the price of farm supplies and equipment or investing in land at inflated prices, farmers can help prevent this situation from becoming too serious."

Husband Granted Divorce Here

Divorce has been granted Harry W. Woods from his wife, Mary L. Potter Woods, who was found guilty of gross neglect of duty in Pickaway County common pleas court.

The couple was married July 18, 1947, in Circleville. In granting the decree, the court agreed to a mutual property settlement drawn up by the two parties.

was armed, but they had a double-barrelled shotgun in the house with them.

They offered no resistance, officers said.

The patrol said Romine and Goodfellow apparently had left Kelley and Dobbins two miles south of Cutler early last evening.

There was evidence the four escapees had been seen near the house, about 11 miles west of Maritta, but the neighbors were afraid to report to the law officers for fear the men might harm them or their property.

The kidnapers, all of whom were serving sentences for minor offenses, escaped from the Perry County jail here Monday when Sheriff Butts left Dobbins, a trusty, free to roam the jail.

While Butts went hunting, Dobbins found the keys to the cells and released the other prisoners and the quartet fled, stealing several shotguns and some ammunition and they left.

Pupils Promise To End Strike

AKRON, Nov. 18 — Striking high school students at neighboring Twinsburg were ready to go back to their classes today, but not ready to forget their grievances against School Superintendent Glen L. Powell.

The students have promised to return Friday, but in the meantime they are busy circulating petitions asking the ouster of Powell.

Only 26 of the school's 160 students reported to classes yesterday as students revolted against what they termed Powell's "unfair" attitude toward athletics and extra-curricular activities.

SICK!

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs, NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid coddition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Vet Pension Rules Are Liberalized

VA Aide Details Newest Setup

James P. Shea, Pickaway County service officer, announced Wednesday the Veteran's Administration pension rules recently had been liberalized.

According to Shea, the new rule reduces the percentage of disability necessary for award of pension for permanent and total disability.

"On attainment of age 55," said the service officer, "a veteran with a total of as much as 60 percent according to VA rating, and who is unable to obtain gainful employment, may be granted the benefit.

"Previously it was required that the veteran have one disability of 60 percent or a combination of 70 percent, major portion of which must total 40 percent."

He continued to explain that the disabilities involved must be of a permanent nature, and in determining the ability of the claimant to work, the following guides are employed:

(a) EMPLOYMENT on the veterans own farm or business or at odd jobs, at less than half the usual hours of work, or at half the usual pay, will not prevent an award of pension if the disabilities prevent the veteran from obtaining better employment)

(b) Defects of a congenital or developmental nature which contribute to unemployability will not prevent an award of pension; and

(c) Cases of veterans who fail to meet the disability percentage requirements but who are shown to be unemployable may be referred to the VA Central Office for individual consideration.

At the age of 65 there will be no more percentage requirement other than one disability rated at 10 percent or more.

The pension award, according to Shea, is $60 per month until the veteran reaches the age of 65 or until total and permanent disability rating has been established for a period of 10 years. After that period, the amount is increased to $72 per month.

Man Would Shed Estranged Wife

The estranged wife of Robert C. Hettinger is being sued for divorce in Pickaway County common pleas court in a petition which accuses her of abandoning her home and child to consort with other men.

He claims they were married Feb. 10, 1941, in Chillicothe and that they have one child, age 4. Hettinger is suing on grounds of gross neglect of duty.

In the petition Hettinger asks the court for custody of the child and that his wife be barred from alimony.

Darbyville Man Hurt In Crash

Lonzi Estep, 36-year-old Darbyville man, was given emergency treatment in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Wednesday for a possible fracture of his right shoulder and head injuries following an auto mishap there.

Columbus police reported Estep had been driving in Columbus when his auto was hit by David E. Frost of Columbus. Frost was ordered to appear in police court for failing to stop at a stop sign.

TAKING PICTURES requires only a minute or so from snap to print with this new-type camera. You just insert the film roll (left), snap the picture (second left) with one setting determining both shutter speed and lens opening, a special feature, says Polaroid corporation. Then leader of film is pulled out (second right) and torn off. After a one-minute wait, out comes a finished print (right), 3¼ by 4¼ inches in sepia tone. Tests indicate the print is as permanent as conventional type, says maker. (International)

DROPPING TO EARTH, a new supersonic parachute lands safely after a test flight near Schenectady, N. Y. Containing delicate research instruments, the parachute, which can be expelled from a V-2 rocket as high as 100 miles above the ground, reaches supersonic speed before its vanes spread out. This causes the device to slow up to about 27 miles an hour, just before its sharp nose is embedded in the earth. Thus it can land without damage to the delicate cargo it carries. (International)

'DON'T HAMMER GOODIES'

Nut-Cracking Technique Cited By County Expert

Reports indicate that the supply of nuts this year is larger than usual.

"With this in mind, how about checking up on our "nut-cracking techniques", asks Genevieve Alley, Pickaway County home demonstration agent.

"If we hammer hard enough, we can crack any nut, but with special "goodies" to be prepared for the holidays, we want to be certain that we'll get the kernels out whole; or at least in large pieces," Miss Alley says.

In general, a rule that applies to most nuts but particularly to those with hard, bony shells, is to soak them in warm water over night; especially if they are very dry. Be certain to drain off all surface water before cracking.

Many hard nuts crack better on a wooden block or on a soft metal, like lead, in which a depression has been made, than on a flat stone.

Almonds are easy to crack. Those with harder shells may be opened quickly with a hand-grip cracker applied to the thin edge.

MANY ENGLISH walnuts may be cracked by squeezing two in the hand, or place the nut on a flat, thick block of wood and hit lightly with a hammer on sides or shoulders to bring out large meats. Don't pound the ends, Miss Alley warns.

Quite a different technique can be employed for pecans. Pressure cracking devices with lever or thumb screw which crack by end-squeeze are best for pecans, because they give light pressure on the shoulders of the nut. To insure adequate cracking, squeeze until two snaps are heard.

Jaycees To Try Regrouping Into Active Unit Here

Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday evening to regroup its efforts in an attempt to shoot life-blood into the organization.

Main purpose of the meeting was to decide whether to continue the Jaycees as an active group. A lack of interest on the part of many members had caused the organization to lapse into inactivity.

President Robert Brehmer Jr., said a nucleus of five men attended the meeting in his home and decided to continue on a small scale of operations. He said:

"We can depend on about 10 men in our group. This will serve as a hard core from which we can radiate our activities and build up into a going concern again."

Between now and the next meeting on Dec. 7, the Jaycees are going to concentrate on building up interest in the organization. John Evans has offered his showroom on East Franklin street as headquarters, Brehmer said.

One novel 1948 Christmas card contains a postcard for the recipient to send back, indicating how he fared over the holidays.

U.S. Spy System Is Growing Up

Yankees Finally Learning Trade

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Whenever Hollywood comes up with a particularly spectacular "clock and dagger" epic which arouses the wrath of the critics because of its unbelievable plot, certain American citizens scattered across the country and around the world leave the theaters in Peoria and Prague chuckling to themselves.

They are laughing, not only at the movie, but also at the critics—for while that particular plot may strike them as ridiculous, they know that the theory that it is too improbable to be true is even more ridiculous.

No other single phase of American peacetime preparedness has developed so rapidly during the last three postwar years as our espionage and counter-epionage systems, according to experts in that field who once were highly critical of what they called our "amateurish activities."

Such experts say that, since foreign nations long since are well aware of our developments in the field, there is no reason to deny it at home—although they shun names and clamp down on revelation of techniques and methods.

DURING the early years of the war, an admission of progress from the system's erstwhile critics is a cheering thing.

There have been experiences which pointed up the contrast, indicating that we have at last turned "pro" in a highly professional league.

The old picture was disheartening. During and shortly after the war in Europe, many Yankees were patriotically embarrassed several times when "American secret agents" were pointed out quite casually by bartenders, barbers and the like in three or four major Western European capitals.

More than that, they soon discovered that a great many U. S. operatives were quite easily identifiable. To intrigue-trained Europeans, they often were as stumbling children.

By contrast, America's allies—for the most part—were startlingly effective, partially because they were operating in their own back yard, so to speak, and partially because they had the benefit of several centuries of trial-and-error in such matters.

In Rome, for example, in May of 1944, certain British agents sat at the bar of the Grand Hotel, sipping brandy-and-soda while German general officers were frantically packing and scuttling back and forth across the lobby in preparation for evacuation. Sometimes they even offered "helpful" flight suggestions to the harried high Wehrmacht brass.

THERE WERE other examples which gradually came to light, involving agents of France, Belgium, Holland and Italy who had done their work with unbelievable efficiency, yet with the casual air of traveling salesmen—which, quite often, they purported to be.

By contrast, partially because of language and custom difficulties, and partially because of an open temperament unsuited to intrigue, many U. S. intelligence operatives might as well have worn Keystone cop uniforms—except when they were recuited within their native lands.

However, toward the war's end America began to learn and today, according to the men who should know, the U. S. is at least holding its own with the rest of the world in intelligence activities—for perhaps the first time in history.

THIS MUST BE A MIRAGE, these Soviet-zone Berlin police marching to an auditorium (background) to hear a lecture on blessings of Russian occupation, because the Russians say they aren't drilling any police—they don't have enough to drill, they say. Photographer Allyn Baum got the picture at great personal risk, "shooting" from window of a blocked-off area in the Red zone. His evidence seems to bear out reports of "military drilling" of police as militia by the Russians. (International)

Probation Asked In Stab Case

CANTON, Nov. 18—A request for probation in the first-degree manslaughter trial of Buck Allen Jeter, 33, found guilty of the ice-pick slaying of Hubbard Reese last Summer, was considered today by Stark County common pleas court.

Jeter was found guilty yesterday after the jury deliberated for nearly an hour. The verdict calls for a one-to-20 year term.

The defendant allegedly stabbed Reese 44 times in a fight last Summer. Jeter, however, claims he killed Reese in self defense.

STRIKE CALAMITY

JOSEPH P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, was quoted as saying that the necessity for the strike of dock workers which tied up East Coast ports was "a national calamity." He might well have made this statement more general, but it is reasonable to assume that he was thinking of the specific situation of his own union and its strike. It would be as accurate to say that the necessity for any strike is a national calamity. The outreaching effects of the dock workers' strike were immediately seen, for it caused ships to lie idle, cargoes to stand on the docks waiting for hands to move them, freight movements to be changed or cancelled far back in the interior of the country. Actually every strike similarly reaches beyond the establishment and industry in which it occurs, to affect other business and other people far removed from the strike and its causes. Usually these effects are not so easily seen.

Mr. Ryan has made a keen observation. It is not a strike itself, but the necessity for it which is calamitous. And it is senseless, because the necessity for a strike does not really have to exist. It exists only because we have gotten ourselves into the habit of accepting strikes as inevitable. The need for strikes can be eliminated by bringing more intelligent and orderly processes into the relations of management and labor. We must learn how to do it.

FISH CENSUS

THE CREW of the Albatros III, research vessel of the Branch of Fishery Biology of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service, has been engaged in counting the fish in the sea. It has been counting the fish, at any rate, in that part of the sea off the coast of Cape Cod known as the Georges Bank.

The seemingly herculean task of counting fish population is done by sampling methods. By various laboratory techniques the research workers hope to learn about the fish of the Georges Bank some of the same details of population trends revealed by the census of people on land. They want to know how many fish there are of each kind, what the birth and death rates are, the migratory habits and trends, and the effects of fishing activities.

The ultimate goal is to gather knowledge through which the production of food from the sea can be increased. With the prospect that increasing population may someday place an intolerable burden of food production on the land, this project assumes considerable significance for the future.

The Canadian Medical Association reports that the only remedy for snoring is to put the offender out of earshot. Well, thanks for trying, Doctor.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

S. K. Ratcliffe, an Englishman, writing for The Contemporary Review, makes the point:

"They (the Republicans) had one cause only for anxiety—how to frame a platform upon which the Vandenberg internationalists and the old isolationists could combine for campaign purposes. The struggle in committee ended in the discomfiture of the Old Guard."

Nothing of the sort existed in the resolutions committee at the time of the Republican convention, although some newspapermen made a to-do about isolationists. The fact is that the foreign relations of the Republican Party was in the hands of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles, and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge and their language met with no opposition.

I cite this instance not to take over the past, but rather as indicative of the future of the Republican Party. It came into 1948 with an accumulation of popular prejudices, some of which go back to 1928. It came to the convention as a party of older men and women. Tom Dewey had been a candidate three times—that means eight years; the same was true of Robert A. Taft and Vandenberg. With the exception of Wendell Willkie, the 1940 candidates were candidates in 1948. Harold Stassen had emerged in 1944 but was not taken seriously. He alone survives with a marked personal following and increased stature out of the 1948 election.

The Republican National Committee is a stodgy affair. It has had little influence, for years, either on the thought or conduct of the party. Willkie by-passed it altogether. In 1944, Dewey took control of it through Herbert Brownell, who generally ignored the existence of its members. In 1948, the Dewey campaign was conducted altogether separately from it. The leaders in Congress hardly recognized its existence. Lacking vitality, it imparts no life to the party.

The Republican Party is now left with no spiritual, intellectual or binding leadership. What Dewey can do with the titular leadership during the next two years depends upon his ability to bring some order into the party's Congressional representation and some spirit into disappointed state organizations. He will have a tough time in his own state, where the management was extraordinarily incompetent and, as results proved, treacherous to him. Actually, considering the Wallace vote, he lost New York State and he must not permit it to remain lost if he desires to have a continuing influence in his party. It will take hard work and courage to cleanse that stable.

In Congress, the remaining Republicans will begin immediately to vie for notice and leadership with 1950 and 1952 in view. The intellectual and in a large measure the political leadership in the Senate will go to Taft, but not without challenge. In the House of Representatives, it will pass from Joe Martin to Charles Halleck of Indiana.

The so-called liberal Republicans, senators like Aiken and Tobey and their associates, will play for authority and will be encouraged by President Truman and the New Dealers to keep the Republican Party split. They will have followers in the House.

The problem this party faces will be to discover some individual leader who can bring together its divergent elements in Congress and to infuse new life into the state organizations.

DIET AND HEALTH

Correcting a Movable Kidney

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AS far back as 1881, an operation was introduced for fixing the kidney in position. This operation is known as nephropexy. However, following its introduction, it was employed to treat many different abnormal complaints if the kidney could be felt through the abdominal wall. Now we know that such operations in many of these instances were of no value. But we also have found out that if the kidney is really out of position, due to repeated injuries, pregnancies, overexertion, lack of exercise, long hours of standing or the wearing of tight corsets, an operation to fix it into proper position is of value.

Symptoms of a movable kidney consist of dull, aching pains in the affected side, which may be relieved by rest in bed. From time to time, there may be severe attacks of pain, often associated with sickness at the stomach and vomiting. This severe pain passes from the back into the lower abdomen and can be relieved only by the giving of opiates.

Infection Develops

In some cases of movable kidney, an infection of the pelvis of the kidney has developed, in which the urine collects before it passes into the bladder. Blood in the urine also may occur as a result of congestion.

Movable kidney may develop at almost any age, although it seems to develop most often in those between the ages of 30 and 40. Another interesting observation is that women suffer from this condition more often than men, and the right side is affected more often than the left. Just why this should be so, we do not know.

However, we do know that such conditions as weakness of the abdominal muscles, loss of weight, and bad posture may contribute to the development of the disorder. Patients with movable kidney usually feel better on arising in the morning and become worse as the day goes on. They also are relieved by lying down or by wearing a supporting belt. If complete relief is obtained by wearing such a support, operation is not required.

Infection in Teeth

The doctor always makes sure, before operation is done, that any infection present, such as in the teeth, tonsils or sinuses, is eliminated.

The operation for this disorder produces a permanent cure in most cases. During the operation the kidney is not fixed too securely, since it normally moves up and down a little during breathing. If by chance it is fastened too securely, greater pain may result than occurs from the abnormal movement of the kidney.

Patients suffering from this condition should seek relief. It will make life more bearable and that is surely worth while.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. M. W.: For a number of years my son had pimples and blackheads which have caused small holes in his face. Is there any treatment for removing the scars?

Answer: I know of no method for the satisfactory removal of scars caused by pimples. Perhaps plastic surgery of some type might be of value.

A skin specialist should be consulted.

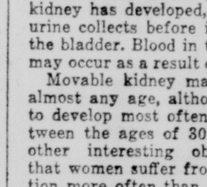
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

IT HINGES ON READING

EVERY ITEM deduced from your reading of the opponents' hands may be wrong except some one vital detail. But if that is correct, it is all you require to make your plan work in some situations. This is especially so in the case of certain fairly complex squeeze plays. It applies in most interesting fashion to some of the devastating double squeezes built by skillful declarers.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass

West followed his scoring of the club A with a switch to the diamond 2, and South went to work at his card reading. He decided that, if West had not held the club Q, he would have repeated the suit in order to help establish it for East—hence West had it.

South's thinking then followed orderly lines. With eleven tricks in sight and no club to lead for a finesse of the J, he had to build a squeeze. Suppose he played so as to have in dummy the diamond A-8 and club J when he led the last heart, also having in his own holding the spade J and diamond 3. In that case, if West be the only one able to guard against diamonds, he would be squeezed between diamonds and the club. If East be the only one able to safeguard both diamonds and spades, he could be squeezed. Even if both could guard diamonds, they would be sunk by a double squeeze in case East protected spades and West clubs.

So South put the diamond 10 on the 2, bringing out the Q and K. Then he raked in the club K, five more hearts and the spade A. So when the last heart was now led, his double squeeze worked. West had to keep the club Q to top the J, so discarded a diamond from the J-5. The club J was then tossed from dummy, and East was squeezed. If he threw away the spade K, the J would become good, so he picked a diamond from the 9-7. That enabled the diamond 3 to the A to drop both the J and 9 and make the 8 good for the final trick.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Britain is a strange country. No one offered a 25-words-or-less contest to name the royal infant.

But the jubilation of the population is understandable. It's the first king-size baby in years.

The new prince is second-choice to rule Britain and I understand one wire from Albany read "I know just how you feel."

Being born a prince has its advantages. When he's four he'll have real soldiers to play with.

Incidentally, there is news that our uranium supply may be exhausted in 30 years. If we're not exhausted before then.

Currently the Western Powers charge Russia with waging a peace offensive. The feeling is that peace offensives should not be waged by governments to which peace apparently is offensive.

Up to a morning of bright sunshine and in the back yard did note dandylions and some of the petunias in full bloom. Unusual for this time of year, but my idea of weather as it should be. Missed the big cock pheasant that for months has been taking his morning constitutional in the side yard. And the rabbits generally in evidence. May have fallen to hunters' guns or may just be in hiding. Hope the latter, for did get to know them quite well. Passed the time of day with George's young bull and he called me something I am glad I was unable to understand. Wouldn't our ego be deflated if we knew what animals think of us?

Downtown to hear tales of the mighty nimrods. Seems as though something is wrong with practically every shotgun in the county. Just don't shoot straight. For instance Alva Shasteen. First off on the opening day up jumped a big cock pheasant and was knocked right down with one shot. Then two rabbits with one shot each. Then 22 more shots to knock down another bird and two more rabbits.

Saw Harry Groce all togged out and on his way to the field. A shotgun in one hand and a cane in the other. Must find out how he did on the day and how he manages to get rid of that cane in time to snap shoot at moving game. Must be around eighty.

Up the street to run into Herschel Hill and again serve as coffee host. There's one man I just can not beat, ever, at coin matching. And so many times have I lost to him that he is beginning to feel sorry for me. Forced a second cup for which he paid. Moving day for him. Into the house he bought from Jay Clark.

Learned that for the first time possibly in all local history the hunting license supply was exhausted on the second day of the season. Blanks in now, but some gunners had to postpone their shooting.

Arthur Marr, manager of Penney's, dropped in with a copy of Norman Beasley's "Main Street Merchant." Tale about J. C. Penney who in 1902 invested his lifetime savings of $500 and a borrowed $1,500 to open a small drygoods store in Kemmerer, Wyoming. Today the Penney store here is one of more than 1,600 in towns and cities throughout the 48 states.

This may interest the young man starting out today. Penney's first job in a department store paid him $25 a year.

In "Main Street Merchant" are produced several of Penney's early advertisements showing men's socks selling at 2c a pair in 1903; children's stockings at 4c a pair and women's hose from 4c a pair; men's underwear at 15c, men's work shirts at 49c, women's sleeveless vest at 4c, sateen petticoats at 29c, handkerchiefs at 1c each, buggy whips at 5c, shaving brushes for 1c, men's suits at $2.49, ladies' dress skirts at 69c and boy' suit from 49c.

"Main Street Merchant" chronicle the very modest beginning, and later phenomenal growth and development, of one of this country's most unusual business concerns. To many this book will appear as the record of a traditional American success story at its free-enterprise best.

SYNOPSIS

What had become of the old Lakeside crowd after the war? That is the question which lovely Donna Collwell pondered as late in the night she sat by her window going over all that had happened at the Lakeside Club dance. The crowd had changed. There were the aftermaths of the happy and unhappy war romances and marriages; the war widows including her brother's young wife. Donna herself still worked for a living in New York, a successful young career girl. There was Mark Banister still completely devoted to her, impatient for marriage with her. She thought unhappily of Mark's keen disappointment, utter amazement when while dancing divinely in his arms she told him she intended to marry no one, not even Mark himself. All the way home and even as he deposited her on her own snow-flaked porch, Mark probed to find what was in Donna's heart. Of course she was evasive, she had to be. She swore she loved him, and declared that because she did love him she could never become his wife. And now after her night of meditation which lasted into dawn, Donna had joined her adoring parents at Sunday dinner, recounting gaily all of the pleasant, amusing things that had happened at the dance the night before.

CHAPTER FIVE

"YOU HAVEN'T required a baby sitter for quite a while," Donna told her parents, "so it may surprise you to know that if you keep one after midnight you have to declare a dividend and give her stock in the house and furniture. Babies! The mothers ganged up on the committee of which I am chairman and laid us out cold for not having telephone service resumed just for last night."

"For fear of some emergency?"

"Oh, no. Just so they could call up and hear the little cherubs snore. Ed and Erna made one flying trip home in the middle of things. Toodles had a runny nose. They came back much relieved. It wasn't any runnier. The consensus, Mark and I not voting, is that the United States Health Service was woefully remiss in not prohibiting the production of babies before the advent of the Didie Wash. Them babies wasn't brought up sanitary."

"Were you a little jealous?" her father inquired.

The pansy eyes rolled expressively ceilingward. "Me? I felt as if Truman had just plagiarized an up-to-date Emancipation Proclamation exclusively for me and other old maids. Brother, let Freedom ring!"

When her father had retired again with his paper and Donna was washing dishes while her mother made sandwiches for the expected afternoon influx of callers, she turned suddenly and said brightly, "Oh, by the way, Mother, you may as well have all the low-down. Mark broke down last night and actually committed a proposal! Think of that! And after all these years!"

Her mother stopped short in her work, hands in midair, eyes wide with pleased anticipation. "He—he really . . ."

Donna nodded briskly. "Right the first time. He asked me to set the date. In so many words." Donna's smile was unwavering.

"I can't say I am entirely surprised," her mother admitted smilingly.

"Neither was I. I turned him down with my usual unladylike frankness. No marriage bells for little Donna."

That shocked her mother into breathless immobility.

"You—you said—no, Donna?" she asked faintly.

"I said no, period, exclamation point, new paragraph. Unquote."

"But—why, Donna? I have always thought—your father and I have talked about it—we both thought you loved Mark."

"So I do," she said briskly and her smile remained. "Certainly I love him. But you don't have to marry everybody you love, do you?"

"N-no. I suppose not. One rather expects it though. Or perhaps I'm just old-fashioned." She was troubled and made no effort to conceal her perturbation. "Is it . . . Are you so fond of your job, Donna?"

Donna laughed. "Mark's very words! No, it most definitely is not the job. The job is no thriller. But I'd rather have it than a husband."

"Is there someone in New York, Donna? Someone we haven't met?"

"Now there, Mother, you're one up on Mark! Even he never thought of that!" she said admiringly. "No, darling, there isn't anybody else. There isn't anybody. I just don't want to get married, that's all. I like things the way they are."

"Maybe you do now, Donna," her mother said gently, "but you won't very long. And things won't stay the way they are. You may laugh at the girls now, and their babies, and their bills and their didie washes, but you won't be laughing long."

"While there's life there's laughter," Donna said gaily.

"Was Mark—upset about it?" was the diffident query.

"I can't say that he acted very heartbroken but I've had no personal experience with broken hearts. Parting last night he seemed disgusted with me."

"Oh, no, never!" She was incredulous.

"Oh, I don't think he meant it literally. He was really on a rampage last night, what with the new job and proposing and all. He thinks I should have told him a long time ago."

"I am afraid I think so, too, Donna."

"Well, to be honest, I think probably you are both right. But I am no angel. I suppose I was plain selfish. I wanted to hang on to him as long as I could."

"Without marrying him, you mean?"

"Yes. Without marrying him. So until he actually pinned me down to a date I just kept stalling. I suppose he has a right to grouse about it, if he wants to. And evidently he wants to. You'd better turn a few handsprings with those sandwiches, Mother. It's three o'clock."

Donna finished up the dishes, efficiently mopped out the sink and rinsed the dish cloths.

"I think I'll dash down and say hello to Aunt Maudie," she said. "There's plenty of time. Annette will not be here until after four."

"Why don't you take the car?"

"I'd rather walk. The snow is lovely. First snows always are. We dont get the effect of it on Broadway. I'll just pull my ski pants over the slacks. I'll be right back."

Her mother stood soberly at the window watching Donna's half-running, half-sliding departure down the snowy street. Then she went to the living room where her husband still busied himself with the Sunday paper.

"Alan."

Her changed voice showed in the one familiar word. He dropped the paper.

"What's the matter, Jeanie?"

"Donna." Her voice was husky and a little tremulous. "Something's wrong, Alan. Something's terribly wrong. She isn't going to marry Mark."

He smiled comfortingly. "There's no hurry," he said. "She's young yet. The longer she sticks around home the better I like it."

Mrs. Collwell shook her head worryingly. "It isn't just time, Alan. It's forever. He asked her and she—she just refused—point-blank. She said so."

"That's odd. Seems to me she's been in love with him ever since I can remember."

"She still is. At least she says she is. But she won't marry him. She told him and she told me."

"If she isn't going to marry him, sometime, seems to me she's been playing mighty fast and loose somewhere. Mark certainly wants her."

"Yes. But she doesn't want him. I—I don't know what to make of it."

"Has she met up with some glamour guy over in New York who's turned her head?" he asked suspiciously.

"She says absolutely not. Nobody but Mark. And she doesn't want him."

"She's pulling a fast one somewhere," he said conclusively. "She must be. Maybe he waited too long to ask her and she's trying to punish him. Otherwise it doesn't make sense."

"No. It doesn't make sense. That's what bothers me. I can't help believing her, Alan. Donna—Donna does not lie."

"Not with her lips, maybe," he said reasonably. "But there never lived a woman without her own private brand of inner guile. It doesn't add up. Does she seem upset or worried?"

"Not a bit. You saw her. Happy, pleased about everything just as she always is. But I'm not happy. I'm not pleased about anything. I don't like it, Alan."

"There's nothing we can do about it, Jeanie," he said reassuringly. "Donna's twenty-four years old. Her love life is her own affair."

STRIKE CALAMITY

JOSEPH P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, was quoted as saying that the necessity for the strike of dock workers which tied up East Coast ports was "a national calamity." He might well have made this statement more general, but it is reasonable to assume that he was thinking of the specific situation of his own union and its strike. It would be as accurate to say that the necessity for any strike is a national calamity. The outreaching effects of the dock workers' strike were immediately seen, for it caused ships to lie idle, cargoes to stand on the docks waiting for hands to move them, freight movements to be changed or cancelled far back in the interior of the country. Actually every strike similarly reaches beyond the establishment and industry in which it occurs, to affect other business and other people far removed from the strike and its causes. Usually these effects are not so easily seen.

Mr. Ryan has made a keen observation. It is not a strike itself, but the necessity for it which is calamitous. And it is senseless, because the necessity for a strike does not really have to exist. It exists only because we have gotten ourselves into the habit of accepting strikes as inevitable. The need for strikes can be eliminated by bringing more intelligent and orderly processes into the relations of management and labor. We must learn how to do it.

FISH CENSUS

THE CREW of the Albatros III, research vessel of the Branch of Fishery Biology of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service, has been engaged in counting the fish in the sea. It has been counting the fish, at any rate, in that part of the sea off the coast of Cape Cod known as the Georges Bank.

The seemingly herculean task of counting fish population is done by sampling methods. By various laboratory techniques the research workers hope to learn about the fish of the Georges Bank some of the same details of population trends revealed by the census of people on land. They want to know how many fish there are of each kind, what the birth and death rates are, the migratory habits and trends, and the effects of fishing activities.

The ultimate goal is to gather knowledge through which the production of food from the sea can be increased. With the prospect that increasing population may someday place an intolerable burden of food production on the land, this project assumes considerable significance for the future.

The Canadian Medical Association reports that the only remedy for snoring is to put the offender out of earshot. Well, thanks for trying, Doctor.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

S. K. Ratcliffe, an Englishman, writing for The Contemporary Review, makes the point:

"They (the Republicans) had one cause only for anxiety—how to frame a platform upon which the Vandenberg internationalists and the old isolationists could combine for campaign purposes. The struggle in committee ended in the discomfiture of the Old Guard."

Nothing of the sort existed in the resolutions committee at the time of the Republican convention, although some newspapermen made a to-do about isolationists. The fact is that the foreign relations of the Republican Party was in the hands of Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, John Foster Dulles, and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge and their language met with no opposition.

I cite this instance not to take over the past, but rather as indicative of the future of the Republican Party. It came into 1948 with an accumulation of popular prejudices, some of which go back to 1928. It came to the convention as a party of older men and women. Tom Dewey had been a candidate three times—that means eight years; the same was true of Robert A. Taft and Vandenberg. With the exception of Wendell Willkie, the 1940 candidates were candidates in 1948. Harold Stassen had emerged in 1944 but was not taken seriously. He alone survives with a marked personal following and increased stature out of the 1948 election.

The Republican National Committee is a stodgy affair. It has had little influence, for years, either on the thought or conduct of the party. Willkie by-passed it altogether. In 1944, Dewey took control of it through Herbert Brownell, who generally ignored the existence of its members. In 1948, the Dewey campaign was conducted altogether separately from it. The leaders in Congress hardly recognized its existence. Lacking vitality, it imparts no life to the party.

The Republican Party is now left with no spiritual, intellectual or binding leadership. What Dewey can do with the titular leadership during the next two years depends upon his ability to bring some order into the party's Congressional representation and some spirit into disappointed state organizations. He will have a tough time in his own state, where the management was extraordinarily incompetent and, as results proved, treacherous to him. Actually, considering the Wallace vote, he lost New York State and he must not permit it to remain lost if he desires to have a continuing influence in his party. It will take hard work and courage to cleanse that stable.

In Congress, the remaining Republicans will begin immediately to vie for notice and leadership with 1950 and 1952 in view. The intellectual and in a large measure the political leadership in the Senate will go to Taft, but not without challenge. In the House of Representatives, it will pass from Joe Martin to Charles Halleck of Indiana.

The so-called liberal Republicans, senators like Aiken and Tobey and their associates, will play for authority and will be encouraged by President Truman and the New Dealers to keep the Republican Party split. They will have followers in the House.

The problem this party faces will be to discover some individual leader who can bring together its divergent elements in Congress and to infuse new life into the state organizations.

DIET AND HEALTH

Correcting a Movable Kidney

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

AS far back as 1881, an operation was introduced for fixing the kidney in position. This operation is known as nephropexy. However, following its introduction, it was employed to treat many different abnormal complaints if the kidney could be felt through the abdominal wall. Now we know that such operations in many of these instances were of no value. But we also have found out that if the kidney is really out of position, due to repeated injuries, pregnancies, overexertion, lack of exercise, long hours of standing or the wearing of tight corsets, an operation to fix it into proper position is of value.

Symptoms of a movable kidney consist of dull, aching pains in the affected side, which may be relieved by rest in bed. From time to time, there may be severe attacks of pain, often associated with sickness at the stomach and vomiting. This severe pain passes from the back into the lower abdomen and can be relieved only by the giving of opiates.

Infection Develops

In some cases of movable kidney, an infection of the pelvis of the kidney has developed, in which the urine collects before it passes into the bladder. Blood in the urine also may occur as a result of congestion.

Movable kidney may develop at almost any age, although it seems to develop most often in those between the ages of 30 and 40. Another interesting observation is that women suffer from this condition more often than men, and the right side is affected more often than the left. Just why this should be so, we do not know.

However, we do know that such conditions as weakness of the abdominal muscles, loss of weight, and bad posture may contribute to the development of the disorder. Patients with movable kidney usually feel better on arising in the morning and become worse as the day goes on. They also are relieved by lying down or by wearing a supporting belt. If complete relief is obtained by wearing such a support, operation is not required.

Infection in Teeth

The doctor always makes sure, before operation is done, that any infection present, such as in the teeth, tonsils or sinuses, is eliminated.

The operation for this disorder produces a permanent cure in most cases. During the operation the kidney is not fixed too securely, since it normally moves up and down a little during breathing. If by chance it is fastened too securely, greater pain may result than occurs from the abnormal movement of the kidney.

Patients suffering from this condition should seek relief. It will make life more bearable and that is surely worth while.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. M. W.: For a number of years my son had pimples and blackheads which have caused small holes in his face. Is there any treatment for removing the scars?

Answer: I know of no method for the satisfactory removal of scars caused by pimples. Perhaps plastic surgery of some type might be of value.

A skin specialist should be consulted.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

IT HINGES ON READING

EVERY ITEM deduced from your reading of the opponents' hands may be wrong except some one vital detail. But if that is correct, it is all you require to make your plan work in some situations. This is especially so in the case of certain fairly complex squeeze plays. It applies in most interesting fashion to some of the devastating double squeezes built by skillful declarers.

West followed his scoring of the club A with a switch to the diamond 2, and South went to work at his card reading. He decided that, if West had not held the club Q, he would have repeated the suit in order to help establish it for East—hence West had it.

South's thinking then followed orderly lines. With eleven tricks in sight and no club to lead for a finesse of the J, he had to build a squeeze. Suppose he played so as to have in dummy the diamond A-8 and club J when he led the last heart, also having in his own holding the spade J and diamond 3. In that case, if West be the only one able to guard against diamonds, he would be squeezed between diamonds and the club. If East be the only one able to safeguard both diamonds and spades, he could be squeezed. Even if both could guard diamonds, they would be sunk by a double squeeze in case East protected spades and West clubs.

So South put the diamond 10 on the 2, bringing out the Q and K. Then he raked in the club K, five more hearts and the spade A. So when the last heart was now led, his double squeeze worked. West had to keep the club Q to top the J, so discarded a diamond from the J-5. The club J was then tossed from dummy, and East was squeezed. If he threw away the spade K, the J would become good, so he picked a diamond from the 9-7. That enabled the diamond 3 to the A to drop both the J and 9 and make the 8 good for the final trick.

"What's the matter, Jeanie?"

"Donna." Her voice was husky and a little tremulous. "Something's wrong, Alan. Something's terribly wrong. She isn't going to marry Mark."

He smiled comfortingly. "There's no hurry," he said. "She's young yet. The longer she sticks around home the better I like it."

Mrs. Collwell shook her head worryingly. "It isn't just time, Alan. It's forever. He asked her and she—she just refused—point-blank. She said so."

"That's odd. Seems to me she's been in love with him ever since I can remember."

"She still is. At least she says she is. But she won't marry him. She told him and she told me."

"If she isn't going to marry him, sometime, seems to me she's been playing mighty fast and loose somewhere. Mark certainly wants her."

"Yes. But she doesn't want him. I—I don't know what to make of it."

"Has she met up with some glamour guy over in New York who's turned her head?" he asked suspiciously.

"She says absolutely not. Nobody but Mark. And she doesn't want him."

"She's pulling a fast one somewhere," he said conclusively. "She must be. Maybe he waited too long to ask her and she's trying to punish him. Otherwise it doesn't make sense."

"No. It doesn't make sense. That's what bothers me. I can't help believing her, Alan. Donna—Donna does not lie."

"Not with her lips, maybe," he said reasonably. "But there never lived a woman without her own private brand of inner guile. It doesn't add up. Does she seem upset or worried?"

"Not a bit. You saw her. Happy, pleased about everything just as she always is. But I'm not happy. I'm not pleased about anything. I don't like it, Alan."

"There's nothing we can do about it, Jeanie," he said reassuringly. "Donna's twenty-four years old. Her love life is her own affair."

JOBS UPON A TIME

Jo Stafford, radio singer, began her career early—at the age of two, by singing Margie. Her first public appearance came when she was 12. Next, with her sisters, Christine and Betty Jane, Jo formed a trio to sing over a Hollywood network. She made her chain debut with Johnny Mercer's Music Shop in 1944, and began recording the same year. Jo was born in Coalinga, Cal. Her hobby is folk music, and Jo has established the Jo Stafford Prize in American Folklore to be given annually to the college student presenting the best collection of folklore to the American Folklore society.

Charles Korvin, motion picture actor, was born in Czechoslovakia, brought up in Hungary, and can speak five languages fluently. During the siege of Madrid, in the Spanish Civil war, Korvin was a photographer. He is an authority on chamber music and was once a guide in the Louvre, Paris. Korvin's part in Winter Soldiers, which was an experimental play, earned him a role, Dark Eyes, on Broadway. Enter Arsene Lupin was his first screen play. Korvin is married to Helena Fredericks, an actress.

MODERN MANNERS

Don't hesitate to apologize if you accidentally hurt a person—any person—either physically or mentally. Be sincere and not too casual about it.

IT HAPPENED TODAY

'Round Circleville - - - - - Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to a morning of bright sunshine and in the back yard did note dandylions and some of the petunias in full bloom. Unusual for this time of year, but my idea of weather as it should be. Missed the big cock pheasant that for months has been taking his morning constitutional in the side yard. And the rabbits generally in evidence. May have fallen to hunters' guns or may just be in hiding. Hope the latter, for did get to know them quite well. Passed the time of day with George's young bull and he called me something I am glad I was unable to understand. Wouldn't our ego be deflated if we knew what animals think of us?

Downtown to hear tales of the mighty nimrods. Seems as though something is wrong with practically every shotgun in the county. Just don't shoot straight. For instance Alva Shasteen. First off on the opening day up jumped a big cock pheasant and was knocked right down with one shot. Then two rabbits with one shot each. Then 22 more shots to knock down another bird and two more rabbits.

Saw Harry Groce all togged out and on his way to the field. A shotgun in one hand and a cane in the other. Must find out how he did on the day and how he manages to get rid of that cane in time to snap shoot at moving game. Must be around eighty.

Up the street to run into Herschel Hill and again serve as coffee host. There's one man I just can not beat, ever, at coin matching. And so many times have I lost to him that he is beginning to feel sorry for me. Forced a second cup for which he paid. Moving day for him. Into the house he bought from Jay Clark.

Learned that for the first time possibly in all local history the hunting license supply was exhausted on the second day of the season. Blanks in now, but some gunners had to postpone their shooting.

Arthur Marr, manager of Penney's, dropped in with a copy of Norman Beasley's "Main Street Merchant." Tale about J. C. Penney who in 1902 invested his lifetime savings of $500 and a borrowed $1,500 to open a small drygoods store in Kemmerer, Wyoming. Today the Penney store here is one of more than 1,600 in towns and cities throughout the 48 states.

This may interest the young man starting out today. Penney's first job in a department store paid him $25 a year.

"Main Street Merchant" chronicle the very modest beginning, and later phenomenal growth and development, of one of this country's most unusual business concerns. To many this book will appear as the record of a traditional American success story at its free-enterprise best.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Robert G. Colville, Pickaway County treasurer, is attending the 19th annual convention of county treasurers in Columbus Thursday.

Mayor Ben H. Gordon was directed by council Wednesday to enter into an agreement with the local water company, purchasing the company for a municipal service.

Bob Valentine, Howard Moore and James Dade were named to the South Central Ohio league honor football team last night.

TEN YEARS AGO

Circleville high school formally entered the South Central Ohio league with Wilmington, Greenfield, Washington and Hillsboro today.

Firemen asked Friday for more discarded toys, so they might repair them for Christmas gifts to the needy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Betts Jr. and daughter Judy of Dayton were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Betts, South Pickaway street.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Britain is a strange country. No one offered a 25-words-or-less contest to name the royal infant.

But the jubilation of the population is understandable. It's the first king-size baby in years.

The new prince is second-choice to rule Britain and I understand one wire from Albany read "I know just how you feel."

Being born a prince has its advantages. When he's four he'll have real soldiers to play with.

Incidentally, there is news that our uranium supply may be exhausted in 30 years. If we're not exhausted before then.

Currently the Western Powers charge Russia with waging a peace offensive. The feeling is that peace offensives should not be waged by governments to which peace apparently is offensive.

Circleville Garden Club Hosts Annual Guest Tea

Highlight of the year's program of Circleville Garden Club was its annual guest day tea held Wednesday afternoon in Circleville Presbyterian church.

About 80 guests from Deercreek, Solaqua, Monrovian, Ashville, Commercial Point clubs and members of Circleville Garden Clubs were welcomed by Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, president of the hostess club.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, club program chairman, presided during the afternoon. Mrs. Watt discussed the coming changes in the Pickaway Fair Flower Show. The club's project will be class 1, "Simplicity in Green"; which will permit any combination of materials; Class 2, "As you like it," a class striving for the unusual in any type of material.

Mrs. Ray Smith of Chillicothe, director for district 9, reviewed future district meetings. She reported the district awards: First, Mt. Logan Garden Club of Chillicothe, second, Clarksburg Garden Club; and third, a tie between Circleville and Franklin Garden Club of Columbus. Circleville was first in publicity awards; second, Clarksburg; and third, Solaqua Garden Club of Ashville. Mrs. Orion King, District 9 program chairman, informed the group a complete speakers list is available from her for individual club use.

Guest speaker was Mrs. John Heier, member of Upper Arlington Garden Club of Columbus, who is a state accredited judge of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Her topic was "Natural And Home Constructed Containers." Mrs. Heier displayed various types of containers. Her home-constructed containers were made of brass, copper and woods. Several unusual gourd, shell and woodland containers also were in the collection. Many club members added to the artistic display by showing their collections of unusual containers.

Tea was served from a beautifully appointed table. William Cook used all hues of yellow to bronze chrysanthemums in gourd containers with several smaller type gourds to complete the centerpiece. Nutspoons were made from broken branches from the famous Logan Elm tree. Mrs. King and Mrs. Hornbeck poured.

Mrs. Homer Peters of the Solaqua club closed the meeting by giving two humorous readings. Mrs. Pharo Osborn rejoined the club, and Mrs. Boyd Stout became a new member.

Circleville Garden Club Hosts Annual Guest Tea

Highlight of the year's program of Circleville Garden Club was its annual guest day tea held Wednesday afternoon in Circleville Presbyterian church.

About 80 guests from Deercreek, Solaqua, Monrovian, Ashville, Commercial Point clubs and members of Circleville Garden Clubs were welcomed by Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, president of the hostess club.

Mrs. Donald H. Watt, club program chairman, presided during the afternoon. Mrs. Watt discussed the coming changes in the Pickaway Fair Flower Show. The club's project will be class 1, "Simplicity in Green"; which will permit any combination of materials; Class 2, "As you like it," a class striving for the unusual in any type of material.

Mrs. Ray Smith of Chillicothe, director for district 9, reviewed future district meetings. She reported the district awards: First, Mt. Logan Garden Club of Chillicothe, second, Clarksburg Garden Club; and third, a tie between Circleville and Franklin Garden Club of Columbus. Circleville was first in publicity awards; second, Clarksburg; and third, Solaqua Garden Club of Ashville. Mrs. Orion King, District 9 program chairman, informed the group a complete speakers list is available from her for individual club use.

Guest speaker was Mrs. John Heier, member of Upper Arlington Garden Club of Columbus, who is a state accredited judge of the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs.

Her topic was "Natural And Home Constructed Containers." Mrs. Heier displayed various types of containers. Her home-constructed containers were made of brass, copper and woods. Several unusual gourd, shell and woodland containers also were in the collection. Many club members added to the artistic display by showing their collections of unusual containers.

Tea was served from a beautifully appointed table. William Cook used all hues of yellow to bronze chrysanthemums in gourd containers with several smaller type gourds to complete the centerpiece. Nutspoons were made from broken branches from the famous Logan Elm tree. Mrs. King and Mrs. Hornbeck poured.

Mrs. Homer Peters of the Solaqua club closed the meeting by giving two humorous readings. Mrs. Pharo Osborn rejoined the club, and Mrs. Boyd Stout became a new member.

Probe On Car Dealers Leaves Crowd Confused

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Slowly, and in a slightly stunned fashion, the crowd filed out of the Macy committee's hearing in the House Office Building.

One look at their faces and it was obvious that they were completely confused.

Currently, the testimony only concerned such activities within the District of Columbia, but New York Congressman Kingsland Macy, committee chairman, has made it quite clear that the probe has far greater ramifications.

In short, it was perfectly obvious to anyone who sat through the lengthy hearings that something was wrong with the so-called auto sales system. Guys were kicking in with anything from silver cigaret cases to nearly a thousand bucks in cash, just for the privilege of purchasing a new car.

Also, it developed quite often, they didn't even know with whom they were dealing. They just signed a blank title sheet which somehow got co-signed and notarized at a later date.

Some of them, as a matter of fact, thought they were dealing with one company right up to the time the congressional committee showed them the title papers they had signed — which proved they'd unwittingly sold their cars to another firm. It was all very confusing, but, of course, every bit of confusion somehow called for a little more cash.

WHILE THE crowd was quite convinced that something was drastically wrong, it became increasingly difficult to decide who was the wrong-doer.

For instance, a young fellow named Lee Earp told how he's swapped a 1946 model sedan on a new convertible. He said they gave him a thousand bucks for his sedan, but he signed one of those blank title papers. When filled in and notarized, the paper recorded the transaction as being with another auto company entirely, and set the purchase price of his used car at $1,700. Then, as though that were not enough, it developed that his sedan was resold for $1,950.

At that testimony, the crowd sighed in sympathy for Earp who seemingly had been done out of $950—and the sympathetic sounds increased when he said he finally had to sell the new car two or three months later for "what I could get out of it because the payments were too tough."

On the stand was one William Manuel, auto salesman, who was involved in that particular sale and had testified before. He told the committee that Earp had promptly dickered around with convertible-hungry buyers and re-sold the new car at a tidy profit.

The implication was that, had he not been so kind to Earp, he might have had that self-same profit for himself.

By this time, the crowd's sighs seemed to indicate that it was at least slightly sympathetic with practically everybody involved in the deal. Only for the sake of sanity, they could figure out who was wrong.

Subsequently it became even more confused. Various salesmen and auto dealers admitted accepting everything from bottles of liquor to hundreds of dollars for being kind enough to sell somebody a car.

Various purchasers raised their right hand and swore that they had given the bonuses, tips, presents or what-have-you in good faith, and were perfectly satisfied with the deal. Both groups indicated they thought that sort of thing was going on all across the country.

It was that latter type of talk which frightened the countless representatives of the auto manufacturing companies who had been ordered to attend and report on the hearings. Facing the possibility of some sort of a binding law involving auto sales, they have been filing voluminous and comprehensive reports on all phases of the hearings each night to their headquarters in Detroit and elsewhere.

Corporations and individuals are now in debt for larger sums than ever before, according to The Northern Trust Company, Chicago. But despite the fact that net private debts are estimated at an all-time high of close to $190 billion and net public and private debt together are now close to $425 billion, the total debt is still relatively low, especially when the extremely low interest rates now current are taken into account. The explanation of this seeming paradox lies in the fact that national income has risen faster than debt, so that relative to incomes the debt is much lower than before the war. In relation to the national income, private debt is a good deal less than in 1929, or than ten years ago. The national income is now running at the rate of $220 billion a year, so that the aggregate of private debt is no more than 86 per cent of the national income. In both 1929 and 1938, the ratio of private debt to incomes was 185 per cent.

Man Cavorts In Public Square

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18 — A man who refused to give his name was held for observation today in Cleveland's Charity hospital after staging an impromptu strip tease on the city's public square.

The man was arrested by police last night on one of Cleveland's busiest corners in the heart of the downtown district after he was sighted racing across the square in nothing but a sweatshirt.

Police reported the man, about 40 years old, carried a pair of trousers under his arm, but added that the garment was of little coverage-value in that location.

10 Transit Rules Listed For Stock

Animal Losses Can Be Lowered

Ten steps to help farmers to reduce losses of livestock in transit have been urged in a special bulletin from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

"Some $25 million worth of meat is condemned annually because of bruises and deaths inflicted on the way from the farm to the slaughter floors," the organization said. "Serious losses are caused also by mishandling and disease in feeder stock shipped from ranges to feed lots."

To guard against such losses this Fall and Winter, the following steps were suggested:

(1) Buy feeder stock from sources known to practice good sanitation and disease control.

(2) Check with a veterinarian on the advisability of having stock vaccinated against shipping fever.

(3) Have the truck or railroad car well-bedded with sand and straw.

(4) Be sure the vehicle is properly ventilated; in cold weather use heavy building paper on stock racks to protect against freezing.

(5) Load and unload animals carefully; avoid rushing or rough prodding.

(6) Avoid overcrowding; use partitions for mixed loads.

(7) Drive the truck carefully; avoid quick turns and sudden stops.

(8) Inspect stock frequently during the trip; provide for watering and feeding on long hauls.

(9) At the destination, give animals a rest; don't rush them onto heavy feed.

(10) If newly shipped feeder animals seem over-tired, sick, or undernourished, find out also whether vaccination is advisable to protect against disease exposure.

Son's Watch Brings Police

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—When a Columbus mother asked her 15-year-old son where he got the pretty watch he was wearing, he wouldn't tell her. So she called the police.

They found out the youngster and a 13-year-old neighborhood pal had stolen about $200 worth of watches, rifles and other goods from a hardware store over the weekend. The boys also broke into a gas station, they said, and pilfered some pocket money from several vending machines. The boys are being held at a juvenile center.

Probe On Car Dealers Leaves Crowd Confused

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 — Slowly, and in a slightly stunned fashion, the crowd filed out of the Macy committee's hearing in the House Office Building.

One look at their faces and it was obvious that they were completely confused.

Currently, the testimony only concerned such activities within the District of Columbia, but New York Congressman Kingsland Macy, committee chairman, has made it quite clear that the probe has far greater ramifications.

In short, it was perfectly obvious to anyone who sat through the lengthy hearings that something was wrong with the so-called auto sales system. Guys were kicking in with anything from silver cigaret cases to nearly a thousand bucks in cash, just for the privilege of purchasing a new car.

Also, it developed quite often, they didn't even know with whom they were dealing. They just signed a blank title sheet which somehow got co-signed and notarized at a later date.

Some of them, as a matter of fact, thought they were dealing with one company right up to the time the congressional committee showed them the title papers they had signed — which proved they'd unwittingly sold their cars to another firm. It was all very confusing, but, of course, every bit of confusion somehow called for a little more cash.

WHILE THE crowd was quite convinced that something was drastically wrong, it became increasingly difficult to decide who was the wrong-doer.

For instance, a young fellow named Lee Earp told how he's swapped a 1946 model sedan on a new convertible. He said they gave him a thousand bucks for his sedan, but he signed one of those blank title papers. When filled in and notarized, the paper recorded the transaction as being with another auto company entirely, and set the purchase price of his used car at $1,700. Then, as though that were not enough, it developed that his sedan was resold for $1,950.

At that testimony, the crowd sighed in sympathy for Earp who seemingly had been done out of $950—and the sympathetic sounds increased when he said he finally had to sell the new car two or three months later for "what I could get out of it because the payments were too tough."

On the stand was one William Manuel, auto salesman, who was involved in that particular sale and had testified before. He told the committee that Earp had promptly dickered around with convertible-hungry buyers and re-sold the new car at a tidy profit.

The implication was that, had he not been so kind to Earp, he might have had that self-same profit for himself.

By this time, the crowd's sighs seemed to indicate that it was at least slightly sympathetic with practically everybody involved in the deal. Only for the sake of sanity, they could figure out who was wrong.

Subsequently it became even more confused. Various salesmen and auto dealers admitted accepting everything from bottles of liquor to hundreds of dollars for being kind enough to sell somebody a car.

Various purchasers raised their right hand and swore that they had given the bonuses, tips, presents or what-have-you in good faith, and were perfectly satisfied with the deal. Both groups indicated they thought that sort of thing was going on all across the country.

It was that latter type of talk which frightened the countless representatives of the auto manufacturing companies who had been ordered to attend and report on the hearings. Facing the possibility of some sort of a binding law involving auto sales, they have been filing voluminous and comprehensive reports on all phases of the hearings each night to their headquarters in Detroit and elsewhere.

Corporations and individuals are now in debt for larger sums than ever before, according to The Northern Trust Company, Chicago. But despite the fact that net private debts are estimated at an all-time high of close to $190 billion and net public and private debt together are now close to $425 billion, the total debt is still relatively low, especially when the extremely low interest rates now current are taken into account. The explanation of this seeming paradox lies in the fact that national income has risen faster than debt, so that relative to incomes the debt is much lower than before the war. In relation to the national income, private debt is a good deal less than in 1929, or than ten years ago. The national income is now running at the rate of $220 billion a year, so that the aggregate of private debt is no more than 86 per cent of the national income. In both 1929 and 1938, the ratio of private debt to incomes was 185 per cent.

4 New Ohio Corn Hybrids About Ready For Market

Pickaway County farmers who are looking for adapted corn hybrids that yield, stand and pick better than widely used existing varieties may not have to wait any longer than next Spring, according Larry A. Best, county agricultural agent.

Up for certification, based on 1948 performance tests, are four new Ohio hybrids that have shown outstanding characteristics in yield, stalk strength and less tendency to lodge.

The new hybrids—Ohio 3147A and 3254, 3262, 3264—were in seed production this past year on 800 acres, chiefly in Northern, Central, Western and Southwestern Ohio.

Dr. D. F. Beard of Ohio State university says the decision on this acceptance for certification will be made as soon as results of the 1948 corn performance tests have been summarized. However, based on 1947 results, the extension agronomist believes Qhio corn growers may find much improvement in the new varieties over adapted varieties now used such as US 13, Ohio W36, C38 and K24.

BEST SAID three of the new hybrids are adapted to the northern and central parts of the state and the other, Ohio 3147A, is well adapted as full season corn for the southern part of the state, maturity being slightly later than that of US 13.

Ohio 3262 is earlier in maturity than Ohio K24, plants are dark green in color and ears are carried at a medium height. In yield, it has exceeded K24 by three to four bushels per acre and has carried less moisture at harvest.

It has stood well, being resistant to root lodgings and stalk breakage, showing only one-fourth the lodging and percentage of broken stalks that K24 did in 1947 tests. This corn has stood better for picking, even late into Fall, than any other M or K hybrid. It is resistant to aphids and corn borer.

four new Ohio hybrids that maturity as Ohio W36. The ears are low on the stalk. It has outyielded W36 by four to six bushels per acre and has shown only one-fourth the percentage of lodging and broken stalks as W36. It is resistant to aphids and corn borer.

Ohio 3254 compares with C38 in maturity. In yield, it has been about seven bushels per acre better than C38. It stands well, having fewer root-lodged plants and about one-third as many broken plants at harvest as C38. This corn will stand well last into the fall, shows resistance to corn borer, aphids, and medium resistance to leaf blight.

Ohio 3147A has shorter stalks than US 13. It has outyielded US 13 by about seven bushels per acre, lodges less and stalk breaks less than US 13. It is about average in its resistance to leaf blight, but is very resistant to aphid infestation.

Thirty-six growers in 26 Ohio counties cooperated with the Ohio Seed Improvement Association this past year in planting 159 acres of Ohio 3262. Thirty-nine growers in 26 counties cooperated in planting 177 acres of Ohio 3264. Thirty-seven growers in 25 counties cooperated in planting 258 acres of Ohio 3147A.

CLAIMING that his son Allen, 6 (above), was permanently injured during an improperly supervised boxing match, Robert Harris, Chicago, has brought a $30,000 damage action against David Meyer, manager of a boys' camp. Yankee Envoy Ignores Reds

LONDON, Nov. 18—U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas today dismissed as a "novel experience" an attempt by organized Communist hecklers to interrupt one of his speeches.

The incident took place last night in Sheffield City Hall, where a small group of Communists tried to silence the American envoy by booing and heckling.

The demonstrators flung leaflets into the audience denouncing the Marshall Plan and the arrest of 12 U. S. Communist leaders.

Douglas stood smiling during the disturbance, then resumed his address, calling the U. S. and Great Britain the "last two defenders of the Western faith."

Firewall Saves Old Theatre

SANDUSKY, Nov. 18—A two-foot firewall was credited today with saving from almost certain destruction the old Biemiller Opera House, a city landmark, in downtown Sandusky.

The fire, which threatened the theatre last night, finally was brought under control by a turnout of all the city's available firemen, but not before a dust explosion had blown a section of the outer wall into the street.

The blaze began in a storage room, but was bottled up there and in adjoining dressing rooms. The firewall prevented the fire from spreading to the front of the theatre.

Social etiquette of the 1880's decreed that elaborate, silk-fringed Christmas cards be delivered on Christmas Day by uniformed footmen using the family coach.

Tighter Health Ruling Readied

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Plans for making restaurants and food handling establishments in Columbus the most sanitary in the country today have been submitted to the board of health.

Dr. Hamilton B. G. Robinson, board president, said in announcing the action, that the plans call for overall expansion of the health program initiated 10 months ago.

An inspection fee program, whereby the establishments being inspected would help defray the cost, is incorporated in the outline.

In pointing out the need for such a program, Dr. Robinson cited one restaurant where five persons who were employed had tuberculosis.

Rabbit Fever Warning Given

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18 — Dr. Ollie M. Goodloe told today's rabbit hunters to handle their quarry with "kid gloves."

The Columbus health commissioner said that rabbits are carriers of tularemia, or rabbit fever. He advised against shooting slow, sluggish game and handling rabbits found dead.

He warned that the disease is fatal in about seven percent of the cases and said chills and fever, weakness, headache, intestinal upset and enlarged glands are symptoms.

Enraged Bull Hurts Woman

CANTON, Nov. 18—Mrs. Dorothy Young, 28, was confined to Aultman hospital today after coming off second best in an argument with an enraged bull.

The bull knocked down Mrs. Young 10 times and mauled her considerably yesterday on her farm east of nearby Hartville before she managed to escape.

She prevented serious injury by grasping a ring in the animal's nose. However, she received several broken ribs and numerous cuts and abrasions.

Brazil is the only country producing Carnauba wax, which is used for electric insulation, phonographic records and many other applications.

It's Your Fight, Too!

Bing Crowley was "beefing" the other day about all that Our Town's doing in the way of sending food and clothes to Europe. Bing felt that those struggling democracies should look after themselves.

But most agreed with Judge Cunningham who said: "So long as any family or individual in Europe is helping hold the line for freedom—against the forces of intolerance—it's common sense, and common decency, to help 'em."

Because that's everybody's fight: To see that individual freedom is preserved in every aspect, big or little—whether it's the right to vote, or the right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer or ale with friends.

And from where I sit, no liberty's too small to overlook. Because the minute one small freedom is threatened, all the others are in jeopardy—just as the minute one small country loses freedom, all its neighbors are in danger!

Farmers Seek Higher Prices

The Department of Agriculture scheduled a hearing Nov. 23 to hear their recommendation that milk prices be pegged at the September level. Farmers were then receiving $4.986 per hundredweight for consumer-quality milk, but last month they were paid only $4.477 per hundredweight. The proposed peg would amount to about one cent a quart of bottled milk.

DICTATORSHIP PLAN FAILS

Civilian Defense Fund Better In Democracies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Behind the mammoth civilian defense program which recently was outlined and urged by Defense Secretary Forrestal lies an object lesson to all those people who still contend that a dictatorship is more effective in times of emergency than a democracy.

The lesson, ironically enough, comes from within the Pentagon itself — underscored by ranking military leaders who, from time to time, have themselves been accused of leaning toward dictatorial methods.

Prior to establishment of the Office of Civil Defense planning last March, the problem of the civilian's part in any possible future war already had been under intensive study for an extended period. Handling that study was the War Department civil defense board.

Actually, the board proper was set up near the end of 1946, but over its desks came reports which had been in the process of development for more than a year previously. Its problem was to establish the views, policies and recoommendations of the military leaders on all phases of the civilian defense program.

ALL THROUGH 1947, it listened to witnesses and studied evidence gathetred at home and abroad. Last February, it issued its report—and that report became the springboard for operations of the new office of civil defense planning which succeeded it and took the problem off its hands.

Thus, much of the recently-announced program merely amounted to turning the findings of the old War Department civil defense board into the recommendations of the new civil defense planning office.

In short, the board of civilians studied the suggestions of the board of professional soldiers and found them good.

Chief points set forth by the new program involve, (1) self-help, wherein a community—or an individual—takes care of its, or his, own needs, and (2) mutual aid of one individual to another, and one community to another.

Those two points also were underscored in the February report of the military board. Since this country had not undergone the trail-by-fire conditions necessary to crystallize such civilian defense, the key examples had to come from those countries which had—namely England, Germany and Japan. (France and Italy could give little information because of their confused geographic and political roles during the war, and Russia provided less for even more obvious reasons.)

Thus, of the three major examples, two were under dictatorships and the third under a democratic form of government. High-ranking men who served on the early board admitted privately that they first expected to find that the dictatorships functioned more smoothly in civilian defense matters when war struck.

Instead, they discovered the opposite was true, and duly reported their findings.

Police Probing Fatal Attack

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Suburban Shaker Heights police probed deeper today into the attack-slaying of Mrs. Helen Takacy, 62, as city officials were deluged with complaints of inadequate street lighting.

Police still were without a clew, however, to the identity of the criminal who brutally murdered Mrs. Takacy late Tuesday night.

Mrs. Takacy was found dead on a tree lawn of a deserted and darkened street. She was attacked while on her way to meet a daughter, Dr. Florence T. Takacy, and escort her home.

RUHR VALLEY IS TARGET

Last Ditch Try Readied By Reds To Foul Europe

BERLIN, Nov. 18—The Soviet rulers of Germany today are reported planning a last ditch attempt to smash German and West European recovery and deal a death blow to the Marshall Plan as well.

This is scheduled to take the form of a general strike throughout the West Europe industrial heartland, the Ruhr Valley, sometime between Dec. 10 and Dec. 20.

Here are the details of this proposed coup de grace as put together from information supplied by private Communist sources:

The entire operation is under the direct supervision of the Communist Information Bureau, the Cominform, which recently has been assigned the responsibility of coordinating all labor provocation and agitation throughout Europe.

The Cominform will be aided in the Ruhr walkouts by the Soviet-established and dominated German Economic Commission (DVK) which has been charged with carrying out all financial arrangements.

During the last few weeks, according to informants, a number of top ranking Cominform agents have slipped into Germany almost without notice.

THEY HAVE continued on to the Ruhr, some of them traveling through the west zones by the aid of false identity papers; others by posing as Russian political "refugees."

The informants say the strike itself will be conducted directly from the headquarters of the Soviet military government in the Berlin suburb of Potsdam.

The nominal purpose of the walkouts will be to protest high living costs, coupled with demands for equalization of wages and buying power.

There is no doubt that such an appeal will carry tremendous weight for Communists and non-Communists alike, for the question of price and wage disparity in the Ruhr has been one of Western Germany's most crucial issues.

During their recent inspection trip to the Ruhr, both the American military governor, Gen. Lucius D. Clay, and Gen. Brian Robertson, the British occupation chief, found themselves continually embarrassed by the frankly expressed dissatisfaction of the coal miners and steel workers.

At several points, when they attempted to sound out workers' opinions on conditions since the Allied currency reform last Spring, both military governors were met by open hostility from men whose weekly wage—among the highest in all Germany—still equals little more than a single carton of cigarets.

DICTATORSHIP PLAN FAILS

Civilian Defense Fund Better In Democracies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Behind the mammoth civilian defense program which recently was outlined and urged by Defense Secretary Forrestal lies an object lesson to all those people who still contend that a dictatorship is more effective in times of emergency than a democracy.

The lesson, ironically enough, comes from within the Pentagon itself — underscored by ranking military leaders who, from time to time, have themselves been accused of leaning toward dictatorial methods.

Prior to establishment of the Office of Civil Defense planning last March, the problem of the civilian's part in any possible future war already had been under intensive study for an extended period. Handling that study was the War Department civil defense board.

Actually, the board proper was set up near the end of 1946, but over its desks came reports which had been in the process of development for more than a year previously. Its problem was to establish the views, policies and recoommendations of the military leaders on all phases of the civilian defense program.

ALL THROUGH 1947, it listened to witnesses and studied evidence gathetred at home and abroad. Last February, it issued its report—and that report became the springboard for operations of the new office of civil defense planning which succeeded it and took the problem off its hands.

Thus, much of the recently-announced program merely amounted to turning the findings of the old War Department civil defense board into the recommendations of the new civil defense planning office.

In short, the board of civilians studied the suggestions of the board of professional soldiers and found them good.

Chief points set forth by the new program involve, (1) self-help, wherein a community—or an individual—takes care of its, or his, own needs, and (2) mutual aid of one individual to another, and one community to another.

Those two points also were underscored in the February report of the military board. Since this country had not undergone the trail-by-fire conditions necessary to crystallize such civilian defense, the key examples had to come from those countries which had—namely England, Germany and Japan. (France and Italy could give little information because of their confused geographic and political roles during the war, and Russia provided less for even more obvious reasons.)

Thus, of the three major examples, two were under dictatorships and the third under a democratic form of government. High-ranking men who served on the early board admitted privately that they first expected to find that the dictatorships functioned more smoothly in civilian defense matters when war struck.

Instead, they discovered the opposite was true, and duly reported their findings.

ECA Helps France Buy More Coal

Recent Red Strike Hurts Output

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The Economic Cooperation Administration has authorized France to buy $14,452,000 worth of coal to meet shortages created by the recent Communist-led French coal strike.

ECA said that the money would be applied for the purchase of coal and related fuels largely for delivery between now and Jan. 1. A smaller part of the coal authorization, $4,817,000, will be delivered during the first three months of 1949.

ECA has announced that it plans to divert funds allocated for other materials to make up the coal lost during the French strike. It has been estimated that about $19 million worth of coal was lost as a result of the walkout.

Today's authorization list also included an approval to French North Africa to buy $4,850,000 worth of coal and related fuels and $410,000 to French overseas territories for the same purpose.

THE ECA LIST contained new authorizations totalling $119,892,000 for seven nations, Western Germany and French territories. It boosted total ECA commitments to $3,128,332,839.

Britain received the largest share of the money $58,380,000.. France and her subordinate areas was second with a total of $36,079,000. This latter figure included $32,440,000 to France, 550,000 to French North Africa, $579,000 to French overseas territories and $510,000 to the French zone of Germany.

Other authorizations were:

Italy, $16,057,000; Bi-Zonal Germany, $4,455,000;, Denmark, $2,135,000; Austria, $1,512,000; Norway, $1,259,000 and Iceland, $15,000.

The bi-zonal authorization included $276,000 for metallic ores and concentrates from Brazil, while $7,650,000 of the French money went for copper and copper products from Chile. Of Norway's money, $490,000 was listed for lead and lead base alloys and their products from Mexico.

Franco Seen Starting Purge

MADRID, Nov. 18—Informed Madrid sources predicted today that Generalissimo Franco may shortly carry out a drastic purge of the Falange Party.

The sources said that the purpose of the shakeup would be to oust all Monarchist and other leaders not completely in smyvathy with Franco's policies.

Three top Falange officials, the assistant secretary and the party youth and provincial chiefs, already have been removed from office.

Minnesotan Asks Full American Backing In China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Rep. Judd, (R) Minn., today demanded a firm American policy, backed by military aid, to save China from Communism.

Judd, a leading congressional authority on the Far East, warned the administration that the collapse of the Chinese Nationalist government would have the "gravest consequences" for the United States.

He called for immediate action and a strong stand by the U. S. government to prevent a Communist victory which would pull China behind the iron curtain.

Speaking as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Judd charged that the present crisis in China "is the inevitable result of the failure of the Truman-Marshall foreign policy to recognize that China is the key in the global fight against Communism."

Judd, a physician and surgeon, was for many years a medical missionary in China.

Ike's New Book Divulges Events During War II

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — The dramatic, epoch making events of World War II are vividly traced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his book, "Crusade In Europe."

In crisp, straight-from-the shoulder style, the general formally divulges incidents of international and domestic importance. The book will be published Nov. 22.

The general—now president of Columbia university—relates his experiences from the outbreak of World War II in 1939 to his retirement as Army chief of staff.

He concludes the volume with an appeal for Democratic nations to stand together against the advances of Communism.

As far back as 1945, Eisenhower discloses, he told President Truman, "Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the presidency, but it will not be I."

The withdrawal from the race was made when they toured a German battlefield. Mr. Truman said:

"General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948."

Potato Price Support Levels Off At 60 Pct.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The government today sought to relieve its potato price support headache by drastically reducing the support level and acreage goals for 1949.

Supports are being pared down from 90 percent to 60 percent of parity and the national average goal has been set at 1,938,000—about 200,000 acres less than this year.

Up to Nov. 1, the Agriculture Department was forced to skim off more than 56 million bushels of the 1948 harvest at an estimated cost of nearly $100 million. The total for the whole marketing year will be considerably larger.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan said he was "extremely reluctant" to lower the support price. He added:

"I want it clearly understood that this figure applies to potatoes only, and that it cannot be regarded as a precedent or as the attitude of this department in establishing the general level of price supports under our new legislation."

Poll Laws, Solon Under Fire Of AFL Spokesman

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—Ohio's election laws and Cleveland Republican Congressman-at- Large George H. Bender came under the vitriolic fire of the American Federation of Labor today.

In reporting to the AFL's 67th annual convention of the activities of Labor's League for Political Education, the AFL political arm, League Director Joseph Keenan asserted:

"Bender said in the last campaign that labor support was a liability and that he wanted none of it. His request was granted. He will not be in Washington in January."

Keenan reported that labor was instrumental in retaining four pro - labor Ohio congressmen and in defeating eight anti-labor representatives.

He struck at the voting laws and predicted that the Democratic legislature which convenes Jan. 20 will restore the old law, "which provides that, if a voter's intention is clear, his vote shall be counted."

Hoopingarner Quits As Head Of GOP Publicity

Resignation of A. A. Hoopingarner, former Circleville newspaperman, as Ohio Republican Party headquarters publicity director, was announced in Columbus Wednesday.

Hoopingarner, now a Dover publisher, said his resignation was effective last Nov. 2 It was announced at a meeting of the GOP state central committee.

A squabble among state Republican top brass appeared as a GOP central committee member reported Chairman Fred Johnson received a confidence vote by only a 20-10 margin at the committee meeting.

The committee met amidst reports that Johnson would be asked to resign. Johnson denied the rumors in a pre-conference statement.

Johnson said much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of Republican faults during the campaign with the main criticism centering on three points. They were:

1. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the presidential candidate, did not spend enough time in Ohio.
2. Republican speakers did not hit the issues of the campaign.
3. There was entirely too much overconfidence by the GOP.

ECA Helps France Buy More Coal

Recent Red Strike Hurts Output

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The Economic Cooperation Administration has authorized France to buy $14,452,000 worth of coal to meet shortages created by the recent Communist-led French coal strike.

ECA said that the money would be applied for the purchase of coal and related fuels largely for delivery between now and Jan. 1. A smaller part of the coal authorization, $4,817,000, will be delivered during the first three months of 1949.

ECA has announced that it plans to divert funds allocated for other materials to make up the coal lost during the French strike. It has been estimated that about $19 million worth of coal was lost as a result of the walkout.

Today's authorization list also included an approval to French North Africa to buy $4,850,000 worth of coal and related fuels and $410,000 to French overseas territories for the same purpose.

THE ECA LIST contained new authorizations totalling $119,892,000 for seven nations, Western Germany and French territories. It boosted total ECA commitments to $3,128,332,839.

Britain received the largest share of the money $58,380,000.. France and her subordinate areas was second with a total of $36,079,000. This latter figure included $32,440,000 to France, 550,000 to French North Africa, $579,000 to French overseas territories and $510,000 to the French zone of Germany.

Other authorizations were:

Italy, $16,057,000; Bi-Zonal Germany, $4,455,000;, Denmark, $2,135,000; Austria, $1,512,000; Norway, $1,259,000 and Iceland, $15,000.

The bi-zonal authorization included $276,000 for metallic ores and concentrates from Brazil, while $7,650,000 of the French money went for copper and copper products from Chile. Of Norway's money, $490,000 was listed for lead and lead base alloys and their products from Mexico.

Ike's New Book Divulges Events During War II

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — The dramatic, epoch making events of World War II are vividly traced by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in his book, "Crusade In Europe."

In crisp, straight-from-the shoulder style, the general formally divulges incidents of international and domestic importance. The book will be published Nov. 22.

The general—now president of Columbia university—relates his experiences from the outbreak of World War II in 1939 to his retirement as Army chief of staff.

He concludes the volume with an appeal for Democratic nations to stand together against the advances of Communism.

As far back as 1945, Eisenhower discloses, he told President Truman, "Mr. President, I don't know who will be your opponent for the presidency, but it will not be I."

The withdrawal from the race was made when they toured a German battlefield. Mr. Truman said:

"General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948."

Franco Seen Starting Purge

MADRID, Nov. 18—Informed Madrid sources predicted today that Generalissimo Franco may shortly carry out a drastic purge of the Falange Party.

The sources said that the purpose of the shakeup would be to oust all Monarchist and other leaders not completely in smyvathy with Franco's policies.

Three top Falange officials, the assistant secretary and the party youth and provincial chiefs, already have been removed from office.

Minnesotan Asks Full American Backing In China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Rep. Judd, (R) Minn., today demanded a firm American policy, backed by military aid, to save China from Communism.

Judd, a leading congressional authority on the Far East, warned the administration that the collapse of the Chinese Nationalist government would have the "gravest consequences" for the United States.

He called for immediate action and a strong stand by the U. S. government to prevent a Communist victory which would pull China behind the iron curtain.

Speaking as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Judd charged that the present crisis in China "is the inevitable result of the failure of the Truman-Marshall foreign policy to recognize that China is the key in the global fight against Communism."

Judd, a physician and surgeon, was for many years a medical missionary in China.

Potato Price Support Levels Off At 60 Pct.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The government today sought to relieve its potato price support headache by drastically reducing the support level and acreage goals for 1949.

Supports are being pared down from 90 percent to 60 percent of parity and the national average goal has been set at 1,938,000—about 200,000 acres less than this year.

Up to Nov. 1, the Agriculture Department was forced to skim off more than 56 million bushels of the 1948 harvest at an estimated cost of nearly $100 million. The total for the whole marketing year will be considerably larger.

Agriculture Secretary Brannan said he was "extremely reluctant" to lower the support price. He added:

"I want it clearly understood that this figure applies to potatoes only, and that it cannot be regarded as a precedent or as the attitude of this department in establishing the general level of price supports under our new legislation."

Poll Laws, Solon Under Fire Of AFL Spokesman

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18—Ohio's election laws and Cleveland Republican Congressman-at-Large George H. Bender came under the vitriolic fire of the American Federation of Labor today.

In reporting to the AFL's 67th annual convention of the activities of Labor's League for Political Education, the AFL political arm, League Director Joseph Keenan asserted:

"Bender said in the last campaign that labor support was a liability and that he wanted none of it. His request was granted. He will not be in Washington in January."

Keenan reported that labor was instrumental in retaining four pro - labor Ohio congressmen and in defeating eight anti-labor representatives.

He struck at the voting laws and predicted that the Democratic legislature which convenes Jan. 20 will restore the old law, "which provides that, if a voter's intention is clear, his vote shall be counted."

Hoopingarner Quits As Head Of GOP Publicity

Resignation of A. A. Hoopingarner, former Circleville newspaperman, as Ohio Republican Party headquarters publicity director, was announced in Columbus Wednesday.

Hoopingarner, now a Dover publisher, said his resignation was effective last Nov. 2 It was announced at a meeting of the GOP state central committee.

A squabble among state Republican top brass appeared as a GOP central committee member reported Chairman Fred Johnson received a confidence vote by only a 20-10 margin at the committee meeting.

The committee met amidst reports that Johnson would be asked to resign. Johnson denied the rumors in a pre-conference statement.

Johnson said much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of Republican faults during the campaign with the main criticism centering on three points. They were:

1. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the presidential candidate, did not spend enough time in Ohio.
2. Republican speakers did not hit the issues of the campaign.
3. There was entirely too much overconfidence by the GOP.

Cigarets began to be manufactured in the United States about 1864.

MM MODEL "Z"
TODAY'S MOST REFINED TRACTOR

All the operating features you have wanted for years are yours with the new MM "Z". The fore-runner of modern tractor engineering this popular model has been the first in the MM line to offer revolutionary developments. Recall the first "Z" had the exclusive MM engine with 150 fewer operating parts. More progressive changes make the "Z" better than ever. Latest improvements give 10% more power on draw bar and belt. Where is the man that can't appreciate the advantages of extra horse power?

Improved appearance for "Visionlining" further promotes visibility. Permits better operation on every job. Speed range has been increased to provide most suitable field speeds. A practical change in keeping with the times. Hardened sector gear has been adopted on all "Z" models except the standard tread which has redesigned steering arms and tie-rod located at rear of axle. Result is improved steering ease and longer life steering gear.

Easy, comfortable operation features include Lazy Back air cushion seat, adjustable steering wheel, "wobble stick" gear shift lever, improved easy braking action and Uni-Matic tool control. A new era begins with this obedient, easy to handle new "Z" tractor. When you know all about the new Z, which is so far ahead in its own power class, you will want no other tractor.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Car Dealers, Their 'Tips' Leave Solon Wondering

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Seems as though things have changed somewhat from the old days when, if you bought a new suit, for instance, the clothing store salesman threw in a hat, or a belt, or at least a necktie.

If you bought an automobile in these days, usually the salesman would throw in a set of side-curtains or chains or maybe a spotlight—just for good-will, sort of.

But nowaday, according to testimony the Macy subcommittee is hearing out on Capitol Hill, if you buy a new car, you throw in something extra for the salesman, for good will—something like maybe $500, let's say.

Otherwise, the salesman may cut you dead and sell that fancy new flivver to the fellow who lives down the street.

Although there have been rumors from time to time that this sort of thing was going on, it took the congressional testimony to bring out the fact that some auto salesmen not only consider the whole business quite OK, but also refer to those little $500-gifts as "tips."

IT ALSO brought out the fact that a lot of car-owners—in the upper income brackets, it seems—also consider the system quite satisfactory and strongly resent the Macy committee poking its nose into their business.

But Macy is perturbed, and before the probe is through, he figures they may be writing a new law about such inflationary "tipping."

For that matter, Congressman W. Kingsland Macy, the New York Republican, doesn't perturb very easily. In the case in point, he is above reproach. The prewar jallopy he parks out in front of the Capitol Building pretty obviously didn't require any "tip" to the salesman, back in the days it was bought.

Secure in that position, the nattily-dressed, pipe-smoking committee chairman sat and stared speculatively as the parade of uncomfortable witnesses passed before the kleig lights the other day.

As they told their stories—which sometimes conflicted—in tones varying from injured innocence to open anger, the austere New Yorker shook his head from time to time as though in disbelief.

Fellow named Ben Cohn, who told Macy he was a bookmaker by trade, said he'd bought a new car for a friend. Sure he gave the salesman, one William Manuel, a "present." How much? Why, $500, he said.

Manuel, an energetic little guy with a shoulder-shrugging attitude, said certainly Cohn had "tipped" him five hundred smackeroos. What's more, he didn't think that in these times that was such a heckuva lot of dough.

A slight sympathetic giggle ran through the crowded hearing room. The questioning congressman frowned but did not chide the audience.

The only point where Mr. Cohn and Mr. Manuel differed was over who suggested the $500 "tip." Cohn said Manuel did, and vice-versa. But Macy was more concerned with other things.

WAS MR. MANUEL in the habit of taking such tips, he wanted to know. Sure, said Manuel, been doing it for years. He'd be a fool not to, he thought. Again the crowd chuckled. The salesman, however, declined to discuss the methods he used to encourage such "tipping" from his customers. Trade secrets, apparently. Besides, he said he used different tactics on different people.

Anyway, they seemed to work, he said placidly, adding that he still was "eating three times a day." Macy eyed him sadly as he arose to leave the stand.

Another fellow, named George Gilbert, was very irritable with the committee. Told them he was there against his will.

Yes, he said, he'd paid an extra $500 for the privilege of buying a new car, but he wasn't squawking. Obviously, he thought it was none of the committee's business.

Like Messrs. Manuel, Cohn and several other testifying citizens, his attitude was strictly one of: "Doesn't everybody do that?"

Mr. Macy grew more mystified as the session continued. When it ended for the day, he cleaned up the business in his office, went out, climbed into his prewar car and drove home in brooding silence.

Ex-Consul Gets Light Verdict

PASSAU, Germany, Nov. 18—Capt. Fritz Weidemann, former German consul at San Francisco, was given a light sentence today at the conclusion of his trial by a denazification court.

Wiedemann was termed only a "follower" of the Nazis and was ordered to pay a fine of 2,000 marks and expenses of the trial.

The court decided that Wiedemann was one of the group involved in the July, 1944, bomb plot against Hitler and "who, by his opinion and deeds," proved his opposition to the Hitler regime.

French To Halt Planes To Zion

PARIS, Nov. 18—The French government ordered control officers at all air fields in French territory today to forbid departure of private planes destined for Palestine.

Authoritative sources disclosing this action said that aircraft suspected of attempting to proceed to Palestine are included in the ban.

It is understood that this new move to tighten truce conditions in the Holy Land caused a split within the French government itself. The orders went through nevertheless.

THINGS HAVE CHANGED

Car Dealers, Their 'Tips' Leave Solon Wondering

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Seems as though things have changed somewhat from the old days when, if you bought a new suit, for instance, the clothing store salesman threw in a hat, or a belt, or at least a necktie.

If you bought an automobile in those days, usually the salesman would throw in a set of side-curtains or chains or maybe a spotlight—just for good-will, sort of.

But nowaday, according to testimony the Macy subcommittee is hearing out on Capitol Hill, if you buy a new car, you throw in something extra for the salesman, for good will—something like maybe $500, let's say.

Otherwise, the salesman may cut you dead and sell that fancy new flivver to the fellow who lives down the street.

Although there have been rumors from time to time that this sort of thing was going on, it took the congressional testimony to bring out the fact that some auto salesmen not only consider the whole business quite OK, but also refer to those little $500-gifts as "tips."

IT ALSO brought out the fact that a lot of car-owners—in the upper income brackets, it seems—also consider the system quite satisfactory and strongly resent the Macy committee poking its nose into their business.

But Macy is perturbed, and before the probe is through, he figures they may be writing a new law about such inflationary "tipping."

For that matter, Congressman W. Kingsland Macy, the New York Republican, doesn't perturb very easily. In the case in point, he is above reproach. The prewar jallopy he parks out in front of the Capitol Building pretty obviously didn't require any "tip" to the salesman, back in the days it was bought.

Secure in that position, the nattily-dressed, pipe-smoking committee chairman sat and stared speculatively as the parade of uncomfortable witnesses passed before the kleig lights the other day.

As they told their stories—which sometimes conflicted—in tones varying from injured innocence to open anger, the austere New Yorker shook his head from time to time as though in disbelief.

Fellow named Ben Cohn, who told Macy he was a bookmaker by trade, said he'd bought a new car for a friend. Sure he gave the salesman, one William Manuel, a "present." How much? Why, $500, he said.

Manuel, an energetic little guy with a shoulder-shrugging attitude, said certainly Cohn had "tipped" him five hundred smackeroos. What's more, he didn't think that in these times that was such a heckuva lot of dough.

A slight sympathetic giggle ran through the crowded hearing room. The questioning congressman frowned but did not chide the audience.

The only point where Mr. Cohn and Mr. Manuel differed was over who suggested the $500 "tip." Cohn said Manuel did, and vice-versa. But Macy was more concerned with other things.

WAS MR. MANUEL in the habit of taking such tips, he wanted to know. Sure, said Manuel, been doing it for years. He'd be a fool not to, he thought. Again the crowd chuckled. The salesman, however, declined to discuss the methods he used to encourage such "tipping" from his customers. Trade secrets, apparently. Besides, he said he used different tactics on different people.

Anyway, they seemed to work, he said placidly, adding that he still was "eating three times a day." Macy eyed him sadly as he arose to leave the stand.

Another fellow, named George Gilbert, was very irritable with the committee. Told them he was there against his will.

Yes, he said, he'd paid an extra $500 for the privilege of buying a new car, but he wasn't squawking. Obviously, he thought it was none of the committee's business.

Like Messrs. Manuel, Cohn and several other testifying citizens, his attitude was strictly one of: "Doesn't everybody do that?"

Mr. Macy grew more mystified as the session continued. When it ended for the day, he cleaned up the business in his office, went out, climbed into his prewar car and drove home in brooding silence.

Evatt-Lie Note Said Big Blunder

Move To Give Reds Ammunition

PARIS, Nov. 18—The appeal of Trygve Lie and Herbert V. Evatt for an early Big Four meeting on the Berlin crisis has been filed away today as perhaps something of a diplomatic blunder.

For President Truman, supported by Great Britain and France, reaffirmed in strongest possible terms that the United States will not negotiate until the Soviet blockade of the German capital is lifted.

The question arises immediately as to why Evatt and Lie sent their appeal to the Big Four leaders in the first place.

It was made clear by Secretary of State Marshall that the Russians had unleashed a big propaganda peace offensive. He emphasized that anything said or done to encourage belief in early direct negotiations was dangerous to American foreign policy.

He pointed out that it was designed to weaken determination on the part of the United States to proceed at a full clip with all steps necessary to embolden Western Europe in a crusade against Communism.

MARSHALL'S strong statement, now coupled with President Truman's emphatic declaration, make it clear that if Evatt and Lie had consulted high U. S. sources in advance the uselessness of their appeal under present circumstances would have become apparent.

Equally obvious in advance was the fact that Soviet Russia would seize eagerly upon the appeal as alleged proof of their contention that direct Big Four negotiations are essential to peace.

Therefore the Evatt-Lie note had the inevitable result of supplying the Kremlin with an instrument of propaganda of which they will make full use.

The answer of the U. S. and Britain to any and all attempts to alter their stand on Berlin has been a simple promise that the airlift will continue unimpeded. As long as it does the Russian blockade is nothing but a nuisance at the present although a potential danger for the future.

Accord Seen In Sea Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Prospects of early peace in the Atlantic coast longshoremen strike appeared today when federal conciliators reported both sides 'very cooperative" in settlement talks.

The government mediators were scheduled to confer with officials of the striking AFL International Longshoremen's Association and then meet with John V. Lyon, head of the employers' committee of ship owners.

The two conferences were preparatory to the first joint meeting of the two sides tomorrow.

Laws Tightened In West Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 18—Special precautions were introduced today by western sector police in Berlin to combat possible new Soviet kidnaping attempts and other pre-election disturbances.

Western sector police radio cars were ordered to guard all approaches and exits to the American sector of Berlin. The police were ordered to scrutinize all cars en route to and from the Soviet sector.

The orders call for immediate arrest of all "suspicious persons."

Greeks Form New Government

ATHENS, Nov. 18—A new Greek government was formed today under the leadership of Themistocles Sophoulis whose cabinet resigned last week.

The cabinet actually is made up of the same ministers in the previous government but the group was reshuffled.

Russ Roulette Kills Detroiter

HOSPERIA, Mich., Nov. 18—A "Russian roulette" victim was added to the list of Michigan deer-hunting fatalities today.

The victim was Rhodes Launand, 21, of Detroit. Sheriff's officers said Launand was with a group of hunters at a farm home near here last night when he decided to try his luck at "Russian roulette."

"I am going to see if I can hit my left hand."

He spun the cylinder— which contained three live bullets—fired, and was killed instantly.

U.S., Britain Policies Hit

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—The Palestine crisis was characterized today solely as a result of "shoddy expediency" on the part of the United States and Britain.

The charge was levelled by a former under-secretary of state, Sumner Welles, who further maintained that both nations were guilty of "tortuous maneuvering and disregard for the principles they professed."

Speaking last night at a dinner of the Business and Professional Associates of the American Jewish Congress, Welles declared that Israelites would never become "the tools of Moscow."

Mrs. Kosenkina To Leave Clinic

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, who made a dramatic leap to freedom from the third floor of the Soviet consulate in New York in August is scheduled to leave Roosevelt hospital Friday.

In her fall, she received multiple injuries so serious that for days her life hung in the balance.

Now that she has recovered, all Mrs. Kosenkina wants for the time being is rest and quiet.

This was the plan for her immediate future today as described by Isaac Don Levine, who edited her life story.

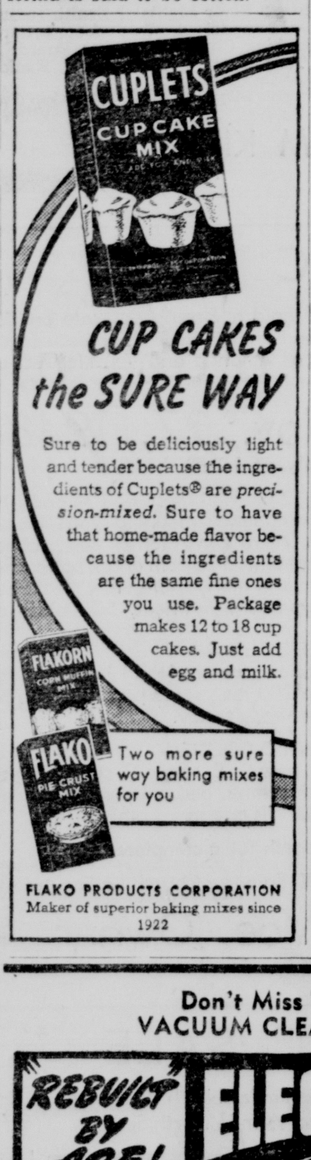
GOP 'New Blood' May Get Chance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The House GOP leadership today considered creation of a triumvirate of young Republicans as a method of transfusing "new blood" into its party councils.

While it is understood that Speaker Martin, (R) Mass., is willing to resume his post as minority leader when the Democrats take over in the 81st Congress, he is said to be willing to relinquish the tight rein of leadership he held last session.

Martin is believed to be ready to turn over some of his floor duties to a trio of "assistant minority laders" who could be drawn from the ranks of the younger House Republicans.

The number one crop of California is said to be cotton.



Local Business Shows Decline In Tax Report

Pickaway County business volume for the week ending Nov. 6, showed a slight recession according to sales tax receipts which dropped more than $1,000.

The first week of November showed a collection of $4,141.91 in sales tax receipts compared with $5,599.97 collected during the previous period in the latter part of October.

However, total collections to date in 1948 still were far ahead of intake for the corresponding months of last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

Total revenue collected this year totals $190,734.67 compared to $166,399.43 received from the county in sales tax receipts in 1948, Ebright said.

Balance in the state treasury at the close of Nov. 12 was $267,249,829.34 with expenditures totaling $8,841,159.68, the state treasurer reported.

Picket Limit Accord Reached

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Officials and CIO Smelter Workers at the struck American Zinc Oxide Co. plant here agreed to limit the number of pickets today to five at the main gate and two at each of the other gates.

Strikers agreed also not to molest or intimidate anyone entering or leaving the plant. A tent headquarters near the main gate was agreed upon as a shelter only and will contain no sticks, stones, steel helmets or other similar articles.

The agreement came at the end of a three-day hearing on the company's application for a temporary restraining order.

For many months the record making business has been duller than Army socks, with the platter-peddlers living off the re-makes of the discs they recorded before January 1. Now the recorders have agreed to pay an extra royalty into the musicians' fund. . .and Petrillo has agreed to take it. Evatt-Lie Note Said Big Blunder

Move To Give Reds Ammunition

PARIS, Nov. 18—The appeal of Trygve Lie and Herbert V. Evatt for an early Big Four meeting on the Berlin crisis has been filed away today as perhaps something of a diplomatic blunder.

For President Truman, supported by Great Britain and France, reaffirmed in strongest possible terms that the United States will not negotiate until the Soviet blockade of the German capital is lifted.

The question arises immediately as to why Evatt and Lie sent their appeal to the Big Four leaders in the first place.

It was made clear by Secretary of State Marshall that the Russians had unleashed a big propaganda peace offensive. He emphasized that anything said or done to encourage belief in early direct negotiations was dangerous to American foreign policy.

He pointed out that it was designed to weaken determination on the part of the United States to proceed at a full clip with all steps necessary to embolden Western Europe in a crusade against Communism.

MARSHALL'S strong statement, now coupled with President Truman's emphatic declaration, make it clear that if Evatt and Lie had consulted high U. S. sources in advance the uselessness of their appeal under present circumstances would have become apparent.

Equally obvious in advance was the fact that Soviet Russia would seize eagerly upon the appeal as alleged proof of their contention that direct Big Four negotiations are essential to peace.

Therefore the Evatt-Lie note had the inevitable result of supplying the Kremlin with an instrument of propaganda of which they will make full use.

The answer of the U. S. and Britain to any and all attempts to alter their stand on Berlin has been a simple promise that the airlift will continue unimpeded. As long as it does the Russian blockade is nothing but a nuisance at the present although a potential danger for the future.

Accord Seen In Sea Strike

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Prospects of early peace in the Atlantic coast longshoremen strike appeared today when federal conciliators reported both sides 'very cooperative" in settlement talks.

The government mediators were scheduled to confer with officials of the striking AFL International Longshoremen's Association and then meet with John V. Lyon, head of the employers' committee of ship owners.

The two conferences were preparatory to the first joint meeting of the two sides tomorrow.

Laws Tightened In West Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 18—Special precautions were introduced today by western sector police in Berlin to combat possible new Soviet kidnaping attempts and other pre-election disturbances.

Western sector police radio cars were ordered to guard all approaches and exits to the American sector of Berlin. The police were ordered to scrutinize all cars en route to and from the Soviet sector.

The orders call for immediate arrest of all "suspicious persons."

Greeks Form New Government

ATHENS, Nov. 18—A new Greek government was formed today under the leadership of Themistocles Sophoulis whose cabinet resigned last week.

The cabinet actually is made up of the same ministers in the previous government but the group was reshuffled.

Russ Roulette Kills Detroiter

HOSPERIA, Mich., Nov. 18—A "Russian roulette" victim was added to the list of Michigan deer-hunting fatalities today.

The victim was Rhodes Launand, 21, of Detroit. Sheriff's officers said Launand was with a group of hunters at a farm home near here last night when he decided to try his luck at "Russian roulette."

"I am going to see if I can hit my left hand."

He spun the cylinder— which contained three live bullets—fired, and was killed instantly.

U.S., Britain Policies Hit

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—The Palestine crisis was characterized today solely as a result of "shoddy expediency" on the part of the United States and Britain.

The charge was levelled by a former under-secretary of state, Sumner Welles, who further maintained that both nations were guilty of "tortuous maneuvering and disregard for the principles they professed."

Speaking last night at a dinner of the Business and Professional Associates of the American Jewish Congress, Welles declared that Israelites would never become "the tools of Moscow."

Mrs. Kosenkina To Leave Clinic

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Mrs. Oksana Kosenkina, who made a dramatic leap to freedom from the third floor of the Soviet consulate in New York in August is scheduled to leave Roosevelt hospital Friday.

In her fall, she received multiple injuries so serious that for days her life hung in the balance.

Now that she has recovered, all Mrs. Kosenkina wants for the time being is rest and quiet.

This was the plan for her immediate future today as described by Isaac Don Levine, who edited her life story.

GOP 'New Blood' May Get Chance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—The House GOP leadership today considered creation of a triumvirate of young Republicans as a method of transfusing "new blood" into its party councils.

While it is understood that Speaker Martin, (R) Mass., is willing to resume his post as minority leader when the Democrats take over in the 81st Congress, he is said to be willing to relinquish the tight rein of leadership he held last session.

Martin is believed to be ready to turn over some of his floor duties to a trio of "assistant minority laders" who could be drawn from the ranks of the younger House Republicans.

The number one crop of California is said to be cotton.

Local Business Shows Decline In Tax Report

Pickaway County business volume for the week ending Nov. 6, showed a slight recession according to sales tax receipts which dropped more than $1,000.

The first week of November showed a collection of $4,141.91 in sales tax receipts compared with $5,599.97 collected during the previous period in the latter part of October.

However, total collections to date in 1948 still were far ahead of intake for the corresponding months of last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

Total revenue collected this year totals $190,734.67 compared to $166,399.43 received from the county in sales tax receipts in 1948, Ebright said.

Balance in the state treasury at the close of Nov. 12 was $267,249,829.34 with expenditures totaling $8,841,159.68, the state treasurer reported.

Picket Limit Accord Reached

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18—Officials and CIO Smelter Workers at the struck American Zinc Oxide Co. plant here agreed to limit the number of pickets today to five at the main gate and two at each of the other gates.

Strikers agreed also not to molest or intimidate anyone entering or leaving the plant. A tent headquarters near the main gate was agreed upon as a shelter only and will contain no sticks, stones, steel helmets or other similar articles.

The agreement came at the end of a three-day hearing on the company's application for a temporary restraining order.

NEWS VIEWS

BY JOE MOATS

Well, it looks as though the sunshine's back in Tin Pan Alley since Jimmy Petrillo and the record makers have been getting together on their differences. For many months the record making business has been duller than Army socks, with the platter-peddlers living off the re-makes of the discs they recorded before January 1. Now the recorders have agreed to pay an extra royalty into the musicians' fund. . .and Petrillo has agreed to take it. The sour notes have turned into a harmonizing chorus that starts with "dough" and ends with more of the same. As Ted Lewis says, "Is everybody happy?"

Sokolsky's

Who will that be? Dewey, Taft, Vandenberg and Warren probably will never be candidates for the presidency again. And as politics are played in this country, only a candidate for the Presidency or some colossal personality, like Mark Hanna or Elihu Root, can lead the party when it is in opposition.

Therefore, at this moment, Republicans talk more about Stassen than they did even before Philadelphia. Stassen has this advantage:

He so handled himself at Philadelphia and during the campaign that he did not antagonize either the Taft or Dewey forces and he won the good-will of many who favored other candidates. He comes out of the 1948 election, at any rate, with heightened political stature.

In this country, where elections are constant, the next campaign starts before the current one ends. Already the congressional campaign of 1950 looms—and the Republicans must decide upon the leader of that fight.

TOO MANY GRID BANQUETS?

30-Odd Men Answer Call For Basketball Varsity

More than 30 aspirants to varsity berths on the Circleville high school basketball team have reported to the first two sessions of the season, called Tuesday and Wednesday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Cage Coach Dorwin Peer seems a trifle pessimistic. He looked over the turnout and declared:

"Following the terrific football season turned in by most of the boys, fans will be expecting a championship basketball team, too.

"I don't see how we can do it.

"The team probably will show the same spark and get-up-and-go it showed in football, but we just don't have the height."

In addition to what Peer terms a "short" team, only three returning lettermen will don Red and Black colors this season.

HEARTENING to the coach is that last year's championship reserve team will be back this season to vie for varsity positions.

On that team were Harold "Sandy" Hill, Don Mancini, Dick Hartinger, John Valentine, Ted Sims, Abe Rihl, Bob McAlister and Dick Stein.

"Most of last year's team is eligible to play reserve ball again this season, and that's probably where they'll end up—just for the seasoning," Peer said.

Another problem of the cage mentor is that nearly half of the players who have turned out to date are football players, boys who since their winning of the South Central Ohio league football championship, have been stuffing themselves through the generosity of local restauranteur.

Peer says he would rather see them get a little out of condition that way than not to share in the glory they deserve.

"But you can see what it will do to our basketball team with opening game only a little over two weeks away", he clucked.

Peer expects to pour on the steam midway of next week, however, prepping for the Dec. 4 season opener against the Chillicothe Cavalier, which will be looking for revenge for last year's season opener. Circleville won the opening encounter by a margin of four points after an over-time period. This year's game is on the Chillicothe hardwood.

Slight Scarcity Of Money Noted In Slump Of Betting In Gotham

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Confirmation that there is a slight scarcity of money can be found today in official figures on the New York racing season, which ended Monday.

Racing slumped off again this past season despite the longest season in history—196 days—and more races than ever before.

For the last six weeks the daily programs were stretched from seven events to eight.

Everybody is convinced that restoration of the daily double next season will boost the betting, but a more certain way to stop the trend would be to distribute some fresh money.

The attendance tells some kind of a story. The average during the past season was 23,290 daily, compared with 24,382 last year and 30,020 in 1945, the peak year at New York tracks.

The buildup to that 1945 peak was steady and the buildown is equally uninterrupted.

Some observers charge the slump is due to the frightening extra five percent tax slapped on wagering for the city, in addition to the state's cut.

New York state's take on the 1948 season—slump or no slump—was $21,948,819. Where else could they get that kind of money without bringing on a terrible howl from the taxpayers? The horseplayers howl, too, but there is nothing they can do about it. And, come easy go easy.

Cerdan Awaited By New York Boxing Bosses

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Middleweight Champion Marcel Cerdan is scheduled to arrive by plane from Paris today to begin training for an impending nontitle appearance in Madison Square Garden.

The Frenchman also was understood to be under option to the rival Tournament of Champions for his first defense of the championship he won several months ago by a knockout over Tony Zale in Jersey City ball park.

Meanwhile, a press conference at Tournament of Champions headquarters was scheduled today, with the possibility that Cerdan might arrive in time to attend.

The European's over-the-weight match in the Garden was announced recently for 10 rounds against an opponent still to be selected.

Redleg Chieftain Says Terry Eyes Baseball Return

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 — Warren C. Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, today confirmed a report that Bill Terry is considering a return to baseball.

Giles said that the former New York Giant manager may assist Bucky Walters during the 1949 Spring training season.

Terry, one of the great hitters of his time, would help groom the Redlegs in batting.

Giles said that Terry would remain with the club only for the duration of the training season and did not seek a job as a coach.

But reports persist that Terry is anxious to land a coaching job (probably with the Reds) in order to acquaint himself with National League personnel in preparation for a managerial post.

$155,000 Await Pro Golfers On Winter Circuit

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — Professional golfers will be in their swinging for at least $155,000 in prize money during the 17-tournament Winter tour whose schedule was announced by PGA headquarters here today.

Only two of the events, the one-day La Gorce pro-amateur meeting at Miami's La Gorce Country Club March 14 and the PGA seniors' championship at Dunedin, Fla., Jan. 10-15, have not yet had prize purses assigned.

All other tourneys will carry a minimum prize purse of $10,000 each, with the exception of the big Los Angeles Open Jan. 7-10 at Riviera Country Club, an affair already boasting a $15,000 prize plum.

Two events, the Long Beach Open invitation and the La Gorce tournament, are newcomers to the Winter swing. Two others that were on the 1947 schedule, the Charlotte, N. C., and Richmond, Cal., Opens, have been dropped.

The Winter tour begins with the Miami Open three weeks hence and winds up, traditionally, with the classic Masters' Tournament in Augusta, Ga., April 7-10.

All-Ohio Teams To Get Banquet

The All-Ohio high school football banquet was originated by the Columbus Jaycees in 1933 and was an annual affair until the war. Cooperating will be the Ohio High School Coaches Association which is naming the players for the first and second All-Ohio high school team.

To be invited to the banquet are the individual players, their fathers and their respective coaches.

Sokolsky's

Who will that be? Dewey, Taft, Vandenberg and Warren probably will never be candidates for the presidency again. And as politics are played in this country, only a candidate for the Presidency or some colossal personality, like Mark Hanna or Elihu Root, can lead the party when it is in opposition.

Therefore, at this moment, Republicans talk more about Stassen than they did even before Philadelphia. Stassen has this advantage:

He so handled himself at Philadelphia and during the campaign that he did not antagonize either the Taft or Dewey forces and he won the good-will of many who favored other candidates. He comes out of the 1948 election, at any rate, with heightened political stature.

In this country, where elections are constant, the next campaign starts before the current one ends. Already the congressional campaign of 1950 looms—and the Republicans must decide upon the leader of that fight.

TOO MANY GRID BANQUETS?

30-Odd Men Answer Call For Basketball Varsity

More than 30 aspirants to varsity berths on the Circleville high school basketball team have reported to the first two sessions of the season, called Tuesday and Wednesday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Cage Coach Dorwin Peer seems a trifle pessimistic. He looked over the turnout and declared:

"Following the terrific football season turned in by most of the boys, fans will be expecting a championship basketball team, too.

"I don't see how we can do it.

"The team probably will show the same spark and get-up-and-go it showed in football, but we just don't have the height."

In addition to what Peer terms a "short" team, only three returning lettermen will don Red and Black colors this season.

HEARTENING to the coach is that last year's championship reserve team will be back this season to vie for varsity positions.

"Most of last year's team is eligible to play reserve ball again this season, and that's probably where they'll end up—just for the seasoning," Peer said.

Another problem of the cage mentor is that nearly half of the players who have turned out to date are football players, boys who since their winning of the South Central Ohio league football championship, have been stuffing themselves through the generosity of local restauranteur.

Peer says he would rather see them get a little out of condition that way than not to share in the glory they deserve.

"But you can see what it will do to our basketball team with opening game only a little over two weeks away", he clucked.

Practice to date has been limited to "piddling," potting at the hoop with little else in mind other than sharpening the eye.

Peer expects to pour on the steam midway of next week, however, prepping for the Dec. 4 season opener against the Chillicothe Cavalier, which will be looking for revenge for last year's season opener. Circleville won the opening encounter by a margin of four points after an over-time period. This year's game is on the Chillicothe hardwood.

Slight Scarcity Of Money Noted In Slump Of Betting In Gotham

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Confirmation that there is a slight scarcity of money can be found today in official figures on the New York racing season, which ended Monday.

Racing slumped off again this past season despite the longest season in history—196 days—and more races than ever before.

For the last six weeks the daily programs were stretched from seven events to eight.

Everybody is convinced that restoration of the daily double next season will boost the betting, but a more certain way to stop the trend would be to distribute some fresh money.

The attendance tells some kind of a story. The average during the past season was 23,290 daily, compared with 24,382 last year and 30,020 in 1945, the peak year at New York tracks.

The buildup to that 1945 peak was steady and the buildown is equally uninterrupted.

Some observers charge the slump is due to the frightening extra five percent tax slapped on wagering for the city, in addition to the state's cut.

This supposedly keeps bettors from going to the track and funnels the money into the bookmaker's pocket.

However, aside from the betting phases of the business, horse-racing apparently everlastingly will remain one of the nation's major industries. The payday is pretty good for the state wherever the bangtails operate.

New York state's take on the 1948 season—slump or no slump—was $21,948,819. Where else could they get that kind of money without bringing on a terrible howl from the taxpayers? The horseplayers howl, too, but there is nothing they can do about it. And, come easy, easy.

Cerdan Awaited By New York Boxing Bosses

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Middleweight Champion Marcel Cerdan is scheduled to arrive by plane from Paris today to begin training for an impending nontitle appearance in Madison Square Garden.

The Frenchman also was understood to be under option to the rival Tournament of Champions for his first defense of the championship he won several months ago by a knockout over Tony Zale in Jersey City ball park.

Meanwhile, a press conference at Tournament of Champions headquarters was scheduled today, with the possibility that Cerdan might arrive in time to attend.

The European's over-the-weight match in the Garden was announced recently for 10 rounds against an opponent still to be selected.

Redleg Chieftain Says Terry Eyes Baseball Return

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 — Warren C. Giles, president of the Cincinnati Reds, today confirmed a report that Bill Terry is considering a return to baseball.

Giles said that the former New York Giant manager may assist Bucky Walters during the 1949 Spring training season.

Terry, one of the great hitters of his time, would help groom the Redlegs in batting.

Giles said that Terry would remain with the club only for the duration of the training season and did not seek a job as a coach.

But reports persist that Terry is anxious to land a coaching job (probably with the Reds) in order to acquaint himself with National League personnel in preparation for a managerial post.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 — Professional golfers will be in there swinging for at least $155,000 in prize money during the 17-tournament Winter tour whose schedule was announced by PGA headquarters here today.

Only two of the events, the one-day La Gorce pro-amateur meeting at Miami's La Gorce Country Club March 14 and the PGA seniors' championship at Dunedin, Fla., Jan. 10-15, have not yet had prize purses assigned.

All other tourneys will carry a minimum prize purse of $10,000 each, with the exception of the big Los Angeles Open Jan. 7-10 at Riviera Country Club, an affair already boasting a $15,000 prize plum.

Two events, the Long Beach Open invitation and the La Gorce tournament, are newcomers to the Winter swing. Two others that were on the 1947 schedule, the Charlotte, N. C., and Richmond, Cal., Opens, have been dropped.

The Winter tour begins with the Miami Open three weeks hence and winds up, traditionally, with the classic Masters' Tournament in Augusta, Ga., April 7-10.

All-Ohio Teams To Get Banquet

The All-Ohio high school football banquet was originated by the Columbus Jaycees in 1933 and was an annual affair until the war. Cooperating will be the Ohio High School Coaches Association which is naming the players for the first and second All-Ohio high school team.

To be invited to the banquet are the individual players, their fathers and their respective coaches.

Red Strader Cited As Top Coach

Pro Yanks Show Up Well In AAC

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 —There should be at least one vote for Red Strader as "Football Coach of the Year."

No matter about the mess of laurels being gathered by Frank Leahy at Notre Dame and Bennie Oosterbaan at Michigan, the pilot of the New York Yankees in the All-American Conference has turned in the year's most notable performance.

He will be thrown out in balloting because he is coaching a professional team, but if he were directing football on some campus he would be named best of the year by acclamation.

Strader was on a scouting trip for the Yankees when Flaherty and two assistants departed from the club, whereupon Strader was named to take over and Jack White was called out of the business office to serve as his line coach.

White, who had given up coaching, and Strader, more revered as a scout and diagnostician of plays than as a coach, then teamed up in a two-man staff which has moved the Yanks into a three-way tie for eastern division leadership.

IN THIS ERA of high-pressure on the pro gridiron, few men would dare to handle a football club with one assistant, the former business manager. Strader not only dared but has delivered.

The Yankees dropped their first game under Strader's direction, needed a couple more games to get organized and now have won their last three in a row.

It all seems to add up into the fact that Strader really has his club rolling now, even though he must run head-on into a road block on Sunday against the Cleveland Browns.

The latter are unbeaten in 10 straight starts this season and, moreover, have never lost to the Yanks in eight previous games.

The Yankees came closest to a victory over the champions last year when they ran up a 28 to 0 lead only to wind up in a 28 to 28 tie.

If Strader can manage through some great feat of magic to win the forthcoming engagement, he will earn at least a contract giving him first rights to pick the pockets of Dan Topping and Del Webb, the well-known millionaires. They own the club.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—The Washington Capitols stretched their Basketball Association of America winning streak to seven games last night by defeating the New York Knickerbockers, 73 to 62.

When Indiana Gridders Huddle, They Say: 'Let George Do It'

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—Football followers at Indiana university know now how the students at the University of Chicago felt, over a decade ago, when the only thing between their team and a annihilation was a gent named Jay Berwanger.

But Taliaferro leads the conference in punt returns; he's second in punting; he's fifth in total offense, and has had the ball, either to run or pass, a total of 115 times in conference play.

The Gary, Ind., triple threat has personally accounted for half his team's yardage on the ground and passed for three quarters of Indiana's gains through the air.

So George does it.

Bivins Given Newsmen's Nod In Louis Bout

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Jimmy Bivins has a "decision" over Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis to his credit today, but nobody seems to much care.

As far as the 10,048 fans who saw the pair in a six-round exhibition here last night are concerned, Louis still is the world champion—with everything the title implies.

True enough, Bivins walked off with the newsmen's verdict after his six-round mitting with the Brown Bomber, but it was apparent to all that whenever Bivins got too rambunctious, Louis always was there to slap him back.

Only twice did the champion come out of his dawdling to clout the ambitious former duration heavyweight king, and both times he convinced both Bivins and the assembled spectators that the bout was his for the taking.

Newsmen voted 9-5 in favor of Bivins, but Louis appeared undisturbed by their votes. "It was just an exhibition," explained Joe after the fight.

As for the possibility of meeting Jimmy in a title scrap next Summer, Joe opined that Bivins "will be considered like the rest of 'em."

"No doubt about it," Joe added, "he is the best fighter I've seen on this exhibition tour so far."

As for Bivins, he is more than anxious to take on Louis in a regulation bout. Said Jimmy, "I know Joe can hit, cause he got me a couple of times tonight, but I wanta fight him."

Football Team Given Flag By Proud Resident

Championship Circleville high school football team grouped in the school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon to receive another tribute for its work during the past season.

The tribute was a large American Flag, donated by Lewis Carter, former Circleville fireman. He lives at 225 East High street.

Although Carter was said not to have attended Circleville high school himself, the flag was offered in behalf of his son, John, who played on the 1923-24 football team and his grandson, Jim, who played on the 1945-46 team.

The flag was accepted by Ronnie Hennis and Dean Smallwood, two of the seniors on the squad.

Presentation was followed by a short talk delivered by Mayor Thurman I. Miller, telling the team of the pride the community as a whole felt for them.

The flag was to have been flown from the school mast Thursday morning.

Harness Racing Interest Hiked By Night Events

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — All mutuel and attendance trotting records were smashed at Roosevelt Raceway this year.

The harness races showed a gross gain of $26,551,521 over last year and attendance figures were up 502,658.

The reinsmen attribute this large increase to the growth of interest in the game. Men and women who never have a chance to see the runners in daylight can go to the harness racing at night.

Well, Now, OSU Could Go To Rose Bowl--If

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—A small voice came out of nowhere and said:

"What about Ohio State? Can't Ohio State go to the Rose Bowl?"

Conceivably, Ohio can.

All the Buckeyes have to do to finish topmost among the bowl eligibles in the Western Conference is beat undefeated Michigan Saturday, while Wisconsin, a two-touchdown underdog, is beating Minnesota, and Illinois, a two-touchdown underdog, is beating Northwestern.

Actually, an Ohio State victory over Michigan might stun the Big Nine faculty representatives into voting the Buckeyes into the Rose Bowl regardless of what Northwestern and Minnesota do.

The football world will know who's Rose Bowling for the Big Nine as early as Saturday, when the scores are in—but no later than next Monday noon, when the faculty vote will be announced.

4 County Cage Teams Undefeated

Clean Slates On Block Friday

Three of the four Pickaway County basketball league teams sporting 1000 percent to date this season will be defending their records Friday night.

They are Pickaway, New Holland and Williamsport, each unscathed so far in league competition.

Pickaway, last year's league and county tournament winner, is looking for little trouble in its match as it plays host to Darby, loser of both its early season tilts.

New Holland also has the statistical upper hand in its Friday match, travelling to Scioto to play the Buffaloes, which has lost both of its games to date.

Closest tilt on this week's menu is expected to be the encounter between Williamsport, winner of its only game to date, and Monroe, which lost its only game. The Deercreekers will travel to the home of the Indians for their try at two straight.

ONLY OTHER league tilt schedule for this week is between Saltcreek and Jackson, evenly matched to date according to statistics. Both teams have lost their only tilts to date, and each is looking for a win to produce a 50-50 record. Saltcreek travels to Jackson looking for its first win.

Following are the county league standings as compiled by Bob Tootle, league statistician:

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pickaway	2	0	1.000
Walnut	2	0	1.000
Ashville	2	0	1.000
New Holland	2	0	1.000
Williamsport	1	0	1.000
Monroe	0	1	.000
Saltcreek	0	1	.000
Jackson	0	1	.000
Perry	0	2	.000
Darby	0	2	.000
Scioto	0	2	.000

Bucks Holding Last Practice Before Wolves

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18 — Ohio State will hold its last practice this afternoon before the big game of the year against Michigan here Saturday.

The senior tackle will be about the roughest thing on today's menu as Coach Wes Fesler is handling the Bucks with kid gloves to keep them in the finest of condition for the traditional battle this weekend.

If the usual plans are followed the Bucks will get only a light workout Friday to keep them in trim.

Fesler and his staff figure the Bucks are keyed to piano pitch for the upcoming game. Esko Sarkkinen, who's scouted the Wolves till he's stuffed with them, said:

"I think you are going to see the toughest kind of football in the Ohio Stadium for a long while. It will be a test of Ohio State spirit against Michigan skill."

And Fesler's quote says:

"As coach, I promise you Michigan might beat us as far as speed and ability are concerned but they won't beat us as far as fight, attitude and morale are concerned.

"Frankly, I don't give a damn who goes to the Rose Bowl because I can't think any further than next Saturday. I have a headache now thinking about that one."

Chicago Student Editors Read Wisconsin Out Of Big 9 Football

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—It was all a horrible mistake.

The Big Nine, which may soon become once again the Big Ten by admitting Michigan State to membership, was the Big Eight for a few wonderfully confused moments yesterday.

The editors of The Chicago Maroon, student newspaper at the University of Chicago, a school whose exit from the Western Conference two years ago turned the Big Ten into the Big Nine, started it.

They read the University of Wisconsin out of the league.

The headline in the paper said:

"Rumor Big Nine football may lose Wisconsin." And, said the story:

"Chicago's desertion of Big Ten football may have set a precedent after all.

"According to reports reaching the Daily Maroon office, the University of Wisconsin is already considering dropping the sport, at least as it is played in the Western Conference today."

Source for this intelligence, according to the story, was a reporter for a Madison, Wis., newspaper who had come "down here to find out how a school gets along without football."

• •

THE MADISON newspaper admitted readily enough that it's been running a series of stories on what's going on at Chicago, where they don't play intercollegiate football, as a matter of general feature interest to its readers.

1. Football pays for other athletics at Wisconsin.

2. Private funds pay for athletics at Chicago.

So it would be pretty hard for Wisconsin to give up football, even if it wanted to.

So the Big Nine is still the Big Eight and 99 44-100-percent-pure.

Red Strader Cited As Top Coach

Pro Yanks Show Up Well In AAC

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 —There should be at least one vote for Red Strader as "Football Coach of the Year."

No matter about the mess of laurels being gathered by Frank Leahy at Notre Dame and Bennie Oosterbaan at Michigan, the pilot of the New York Yankees in the All-American Conference has turned in the year's most notable performance.

He will be thrown out in balloting because he is coaching a professional team, but if he were directing football on some campus he would be named best of the year by acclamation.

When Strader succeeded Ray Flaherty as head coach of the Yanks the team seemed to be disintegrating under factional strife and had lost three games in a row after winning this season's opener.

Strader was on a scouting trip for the Yankees when Flaherty and two assistants departed from the club, whereupon Strader was named to take over and Jack White was called out of the business office to serve as his line coach.

White, who had given up coaching, and Strader, more revered as a scout and diagnostician of plays than as a coach, then teamed up in a two-man staff which has moved the Yanks into a three-way tie for eastern division leadership.

IN THIS ERA of high-pressure on the pro gridiron, few men would dare to handle a football club with one assistant, the former business manager. Strader not only dared but has delivered.

The Yankees dropped their first game under Strader's direction, needed a couple more games to get organized and now have won their last three in a row.

It all seems to add up into the fact that Strader really has his club rolling now, even though he must run head-on into a road block on Sunday against the Cleveland Browns.

The latter are unbeaten in 10 straight starts this season and, moreover, have never lost to the Yanks in eight previous games.

The Yankees came closest to a victory over the champions last year when they ran up a 28 to 0 lead only to wind up in a 28 to 28 tie.

If Strader can manage through some great feat of magic to win the forthcoming engagement, he will earn at least a contract giving him first rights to pick the pockets of Dan Topping and Del Webb, the well-known millionaires. They own the club.

When Indiana Gridders Huddle, They Say: 'Let George Do It'

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—Football followers at Indiana university know now how the students at the University of Chicago felt, over a decade ago, when the only thing between their team and a annihilation was a gent named Jay Berwanger.

But Taliaferro leads the conference in punt returns; he's second in punting; he's fifth in total offense, and has had the ball, either to run or pass, a total of 115 times in conference play.

The Gary, Ind., triple threat has personally accounted for half his team's yardage on the ground and passed for three quarters of Indiana's gains through the air.

What happens is that the Indiana team goes into the huddle and says, politely, "Let George do it."

So George does it.

Bivins Given Newsmen's Nod In Louis Bout

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18—Jimmy Bivins has a "decision" over Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis to his credit today, but nobody seems to much care.

As far as the 10,048 fans who saw the pair in a six-round exhibition here last night are concerned, Louis still is the world champion—with everything the title implies.

True enough, Bivins walked off with the newsmen's verdict after his six-round mitting with the Brown Bomber, but it was apparent to all that whenever Bivins got too rambunctious, Louis always was there to slap him back.

Only twice did the champion come out of his dawdling to clout the ambitious former duration heavyweight king, and both times he convinced both Bivins and the assembled spectators that the bout was his for the taking.

Newsmen voted 9-5 in favor of Bivins, but Louis appeared undisturbed by their votes. "It was just an exhibition," explained Joe after the fight.

As for the possibility of meeting Jimmy in a title scrap next Summer, Joe opined that Bivins "will be considered like the rest of 'em."

"No doubt about it," Joe added, "he is the best fighter I've seen on this exhibition tour so far."

As for Bivins, he is more than anxious to take on Louis in a regulation bout. Said Jimmy, "I know Joe can hit, cause he got me a couple of times tonight, but I wanta fight him."

Football Team Given Flag By Proud Resident

Championship Circleville high school football team grouped in the school gymnasium Wednesday afternoon to receive another tribute for its work during the past season.

The tribute was a large American Flag, donated by Lewis Carter, former Circleville fireman. He lives at 225 East High street.

Although Carter was said not to have attended Circleville high school himself, the flag was offered in behalf of his son, John, who played on the 1923-24 football team and his grandson, Jim, who played on the 1945-46 team.

The flag was accepted by Ronnie Hennis and Dean Smallwood, two of the seniors on the squad.

Presentation was followed by a short talk delivered by Mayor Thurman I. Miller, telling the team of the pride the community as a whole felt for them.

The flag was to have been flown from the school mast Thursday morning.

Harness Racing Interest Hiked By Night Events

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — All mutuel and attendance trotting records were smashed at Roosevelt Raceway this year.

This is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that both attendance and wagering showed decreases at all of the running tracks.

The harness races showed a gross gain of $26,551,521 over last year and attendance figures were up 502,658.

The reinsmen attribute this large increase to the growth of interest in the game. Men and women who never have a chance to see the runners in daylight can go to the harness racing at night.

Well, Now, OSU Could Go To Rose Bowl--If

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—A small voice came out of nowhere and said:

"What about Ohio State? Can't Ohio State go to the Rose Bowl?"

Conceivably, Ohio can.

All the Buckeyes have to do to finish topmost among the bowl eligibles in the Western Conference is beat undefeated Michigan Saturday, while Wisconsin, a two-touchdown underdog, is beating Minnesota, and Illinois, a two-touchdown underdog, is beating Northwestern.

Actually, an Ohio State victory over Michigan might stun the Big Nine faculty representatives into voting the Buckeyes into the Rose Bowl regardless of what Northwestern and Minnesota do.

The football world will know who's Rose Bowling for the Big Nine as early as Saturday, when the scores are in—but no later than next Monday noon, when the faculty vote will be announced.

4 County Cage Teams Undefeated

Clean Slates On Block Friday

Three of the four Pickaway County basketball league teams sporting 1000 percent to date this season will be defending their records Friday night.

They are Pickaway, New Holland and Williamsport, each unscathed so far in league competition.

Pickaway, last year's league and county tournament winner, is looking for little trouble in its match as it plays host to Darby, loser of both its early season tilts.

New Holland also has the statistical upper hand in its Friday match, travelling to Scioto to play the Buffaloes, which has lost both of its games to date.

Closest tilt on this week's menu is expected to be the encounter between Williamsport, winner of its only game to date, and Monroe, which lost its only game. The Deercreekers will travel to the home of the Indians for their try at two straight.

ONLY OTHER league tilt schedule for this week is between Saltcreek and Jackson, evenly matched to date according to statistics. Both teams have lost their only tilts to date, and each is looking for a win to produce a 50-50 record. Saltcreek travels to Jackson looking for its first win.

Following are the county league standings as compiled by Bob Tootle, league statistician:

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL LEAGUE

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Pickaway	2	0	1.000
Walnut	2	0	1.000
Ashville	2	0	1.000
New Holland	2	0	1.000

Bucks Holding Last Practice Before Wolves

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18 — Ohio State will hold its last practice this afternoon before the big game of the year against Michigan here Saturday.

The senior tackle will be about the roughest thing on today's menu as Coach Wes Fesler is handling the Bucks with kid gloves to keep them in the finest of condition for the traditional battle this weekend.

If the usual plans are followed the Bucks will get only a light workout Friday to keep them in trim.

Fesler and his staff figure the Bucks are keyed to piano pitch for the upcoming game. Esko Sarkkinen, who's scouted the Wolves till he's stuffed with them, said:

"I think you are going to see the toughest kind of football in the Ohio Stadium for a long while. It will be a test of Ohio State spirit against Michigan skill."

And Fesler's quote says:

"As coach, I promise you Michigan might beat us as far as speed and ability are concerned but they won't beat us as far as fight, attitude and morale are concerned.

"Frankly, I don't give a damn who goes to the Rose Bowl because I can't think any further than next Saturday. I have a headache now thinking about that one."

Winterish Days Bringing Increase In Unemployment

Seasonal Layoffs Get Blame Here

23 New Claims Filed By BUC

New benefit claims filed in October with Pickaway County Bureau of Unemployment Compensation almost quadrupled the number listed in September as caseload reports began their annual Winter climb.

C. C. Thomas, manager of the local BUC office, said Thursday a gradual increase in unemployment claims can be expected over the next five months due to seasonal layoffs on farms and contracting jobs.

Statistics maintained by Miss Mary Wolfe in the BUC office, show 23 new claims were filed in October compared to six in September. Three of the October claims were under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act.

Continued claims increased to 169 in October. Of these, Miss Wolfe said, 127 were filed under the Ohio law and 42 under the SRA. Three claims were lodged by self-employed recipients.

THE AVERAGE number of weekly claimants was 29 under the Ohio law and 10 under SRA during last month.

During October, the BUC office here placed 33 applicants in job openings and filed 120 new applications for employement. In September, 154 placements were made from 154 applications.

Total number of job placements from Jan. 1, through Oct. 31, was 393 of which 67 were on farms and handled by Walton Spangler, Pickaway County farm placement representative. The remaining 326 were industrial placements.

Last month Thomas made 32 employer visits to county industrial offices. Purpose of the periodic calls is to keep both the employer and the BUC office informed on what the labor trends are and what type of employe is needed to fill jobs.

Mother Collapses On Stand During Murder Trial

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18 — The first degree murder trial of Mrs. Mary Clay Watts, is scheduled to go to the jury today under a hush of awe induced when the widowed mother collapsed on the stand.

"Barbara's last prayer was: 'May we meet Daddy in heaven.'"

As the anguished mother described finding her daughter's body the following day, she suddenly burst into sobs, commenced a violent shuddering, then went limp.

Criminal Court Judge Otis R. Hess adjourned court 20 minutes early and Mrs. Watts was assisted from the room.

Earlier, she had denied poisoning her husband, Willis, and said Barbara's vomiting which the state charges was caused by mercury poisoning, started long before the girl was taken to the hospital last April.

FAO Chief Asks Ruling To Help Steady Marts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Norris E. Dodd, Food and Agriculture Organization director general, has called for measures to "stabilize markets for the major agricultural products" to combat current world shortages.

Addressing FAO delegates, Dodd described such pacts as the projected international wheat agreement as "a fertile field for international cooperation." He added, however, that the difficulties in achieving cooperation are still great.

Dodd said that the effort to increase agricultural production now "would be in vain if we did not assure producers that they would not again be faced with the situation such as that which existed in the 1930s."

He urged the delegates to make "positive recommendations for international cooperation to increase production, reduce losses and raise consumption throughout the world."

Another FAO official outlined FAO's estimated $5,000,000 working program for 1949 to raise agriculture production and consumption standards throughout the world.

Sir Herbert Broadley, FAO deputy director general, told the organization's commission on expenditures that the funds would go for three general purposes:

"One, to raise levels of nutrition and consumption.

"Two, to improve the efficiency of production and distribution of food and agricultural products.

Thomas Aide Pleads Innocent To Kickback Rap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Helen Campbell pleaded innocent yesterday to charges that she conspired with Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, (R) N. J., to collect illegal salary "kickbacks" from congressional employes.

Thomas, chairman of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, pleaded innocent to the "kickback" charges Monday and was held on $1,000 bail.

Judge Keech directed that Miss Campbell stand trial with Thomas on Jan. 10. When her court-appointed attorney, John R. Fitzpatrick, said that she was "without funds," Judge Keech set her bail at $500.

Fitzpatrick said that Miss Campbell would have to borrow money to pay the bail fee.

The formal charge against Miss Campbell is "conspiracy to defraud the government," which carries a possible maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The grand jury which indicted Thomas and Miss Campbell charged that they arranged for two women to be put on his congressional payroll although they never worked for him.

Thomas Aide Pleads Innocent To Kickback Rap

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—Helen Campbell pleaded innocent yesterday to charges that she conspired with Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, (R) N. J., to collect illegal salary "kickbacks" from congressional employes.

Thomas, chairman of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, pleaded innocent to the "kickback" charges Monday and was held on $1,000 bail.

Judge Keech directed that Miss Campbell stand trial with Thomas on Jan. 10. When her court-appointed attorney, John R. Fitzpatrick, said that she was "without funds," Judge Keech set her bail at $500.

Fitzpatrick said that Miss Campbell would have to borrow money to pay the bail fee.

The formal charge against Miss Campbell is "conspiracy to defraud the government," which carries a possible maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The grand jury which indicted Thomas and Miss Campbell charged that they arranged for two women to be put on his congressional payroll although they never worked for him.
